

Indiana University Hamilton Lugar School for Global and International Studies Presents

Institute for K-8 Educators: The UN Sustainable Development Goals

In response to the coronavirus pandemic, this institute will be offered in two parts:

Part I: Sustainable Development Goals Webinar

June 3, 10am-1pm

Free, with possibility to receive stipend

Register HERE by May 26th, 2020

Part II: Sustainable Development Goals Institute

Fall Dates: 2 days, TBD

Free, with possibility to receive stipend

Registration information coming soon

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

Through this webinar, teachers will learn about the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals and how they can be used to create meaningful and high-impact global learning opportunities. Teachers will build knowledge and skills to infuse their classrooms with global content and perspectives, fostering student-led, project-based, and solutions-driven teaching and learning.

Participants will receive:

- Introduction to UN Sustainable Development Goals
- Teaching and learning materials
- Professional Growth Points
- $100 stipend for every participant that completes a post-webinar reflection
- Possibility to pre-register for two-day Fall Institute

Workshop will be led by experts from Indiana University with presentations from K-8 teachers

HAMILTON LUGAR SCHOOL OF GLOBAL AND INTERNATIONAL STUDIES