Joshua Rodriguez

The student I've chosen for this month is a positive role model in my classroom. He takes charge where he sees the need, especially when his classmates are in need of help. He's a goal setter who works hard to improve himself personally and academically. Joshua has shown growth in all areas, which is no surprise to me because of his positive attitude towards learning new things. I'm very proud of Joshua and pleased to have this opportunity to select him for District Student of The Month.

Sharon Bao Trieu

Over the past two years I have had the privilege and honor of working with Sharon Trieu in my 7th grade CORE classes as well as my 8th grade History class. She embodies the heart and soul of an individual who is driven. From her persistent questions for clarification (even asking to stay after school) in order to make sure she understands the lesson or assignment, to her desire to be helpful to those who need assistance academically or otherwise, Sharon is driven to pursue excellence in all areas of life. I am proud of her and am excited to nominate her for 8th grade academic student of the month.

Kameron Lattinville

Kameron Lattinville has made such growth since the beginning of the year. He has taken initiative to complete more of his assignments and cares about the quality of his work by paying closer attention to detail. He is asking a lot more questions and takes time to revise his assignments. He offers his knowledge to the rest of his classmates. He is reading more and discussing his reading with me. Overall, he is more positive about school. As a result, his grades improved. I wholeheartedly recommend Kameron for District Student of the Month.

Steven Pham

Steven is an alto saxophone player in my Intermediate Band and, as a beginner, he struggled because he didn't realize that learning an instrument was a bigger challenge than he first thought. He would almost growl at me and the instrument, but I could see the light at the end of his tunnel even when he couldn't. About two months in he began to smile more and realized that he was going to be successful, but he would have to continue working at it...and he did. Steven is one of my best and brightest musicians and he has decided to join the Advanced Band next year I look forward to watching him grow as both a musician and a young man.

Emily Ruiz

Emily is a student whose presence is felt immediately in the classroom. Not only is she a responsible and active participant in daily lessons, Emily is a student who takes pride in our classroom. She often offers to help her peers understand a concept, or helps her teacher with classroom jobs. Emily was also the creator of the Muscatel Book Club. Emily started it, helped promote it by passing out flyers, encouraged her classmates to join, and even created her own designs for our Book Club gear. Emily is a stand-out student, but more importantly, she is a wonderful person with a beautiful heart. It has been my pleasure to teach her at Muscatel Middle School.
