STUDENT'S GUIDE TO FINDING NEWS ARTICLES

On the Home Page you click:
News

A screenshot of the KidBiz 3000 home page in a Windows Internet Explorer browser. The page features a dark background with a navigation menu on the left containing buttons for 'Home', 'News', 'Mail', 'Block', 'Writing', 'Kid Stuff', 'Contests', 'Kids Contribute', and 'Games'. The main content area has a large article titled 'Take Me Out to the Ball Game?' with a sub-headline 'Owners of buildings near Wrigley Stadium in Chicago built bleachers on their rooftops so they could sell tickets to games. Now, those rooftop bleacher seats aren't selling.' Below the article is a 'Read the Article' button. To the right of the article is a 'Snow' profile box showing 'Today's Points: 0', 'Lifetime Points: 0', and 'Activities Completed: 0'. At the bottom, there are sections for 'About KidBiz3000' and 'Top Score for December 01' by 'Escale Elementary School' with 170 points. The browser's address bar shows 'http://www.kidbiz3000.com/home.php'.

Then choose a category of interest.

Below the article is a 'NEWS DEPARTMENTS' menu with a red circle around it, listing categories: 'Across the US', 'World Quest', 'Science Scene', 'History', 'Arts', 'Technology', 'Sports Extra', 'Animals in Action', 'Eye on People', 'Weekly Features', and 'Read Aloud'. The 'Snow' profile box on the right shows 'Today's Points: 0', 'Lifetime Points: 0', and 'Activities Completed: 0'. The browser's address bar shows 'http://www.kidbiz3000.com/article/?c=1'.

Under the category of "Science Scene", there is an article called: The Dirt on Dust

Each category will list articles available under the theme.

When you click on the article, the next screen will have the article with the activity.
