

Body Systems Review Game

How it works

- Each pair needs
 - Two dry erase markers that are different colors
 - Review game sheet
 - Scorecard
- For each question, you will race your partner to find the answer on your game sheet and mark it with your pen
- At the end, tally up how many you marked and how many your partner marked

Our bodies must maintain balance to survive. What is this called?

What body system does this belong to?

What body system extracts
nutrients from your food?

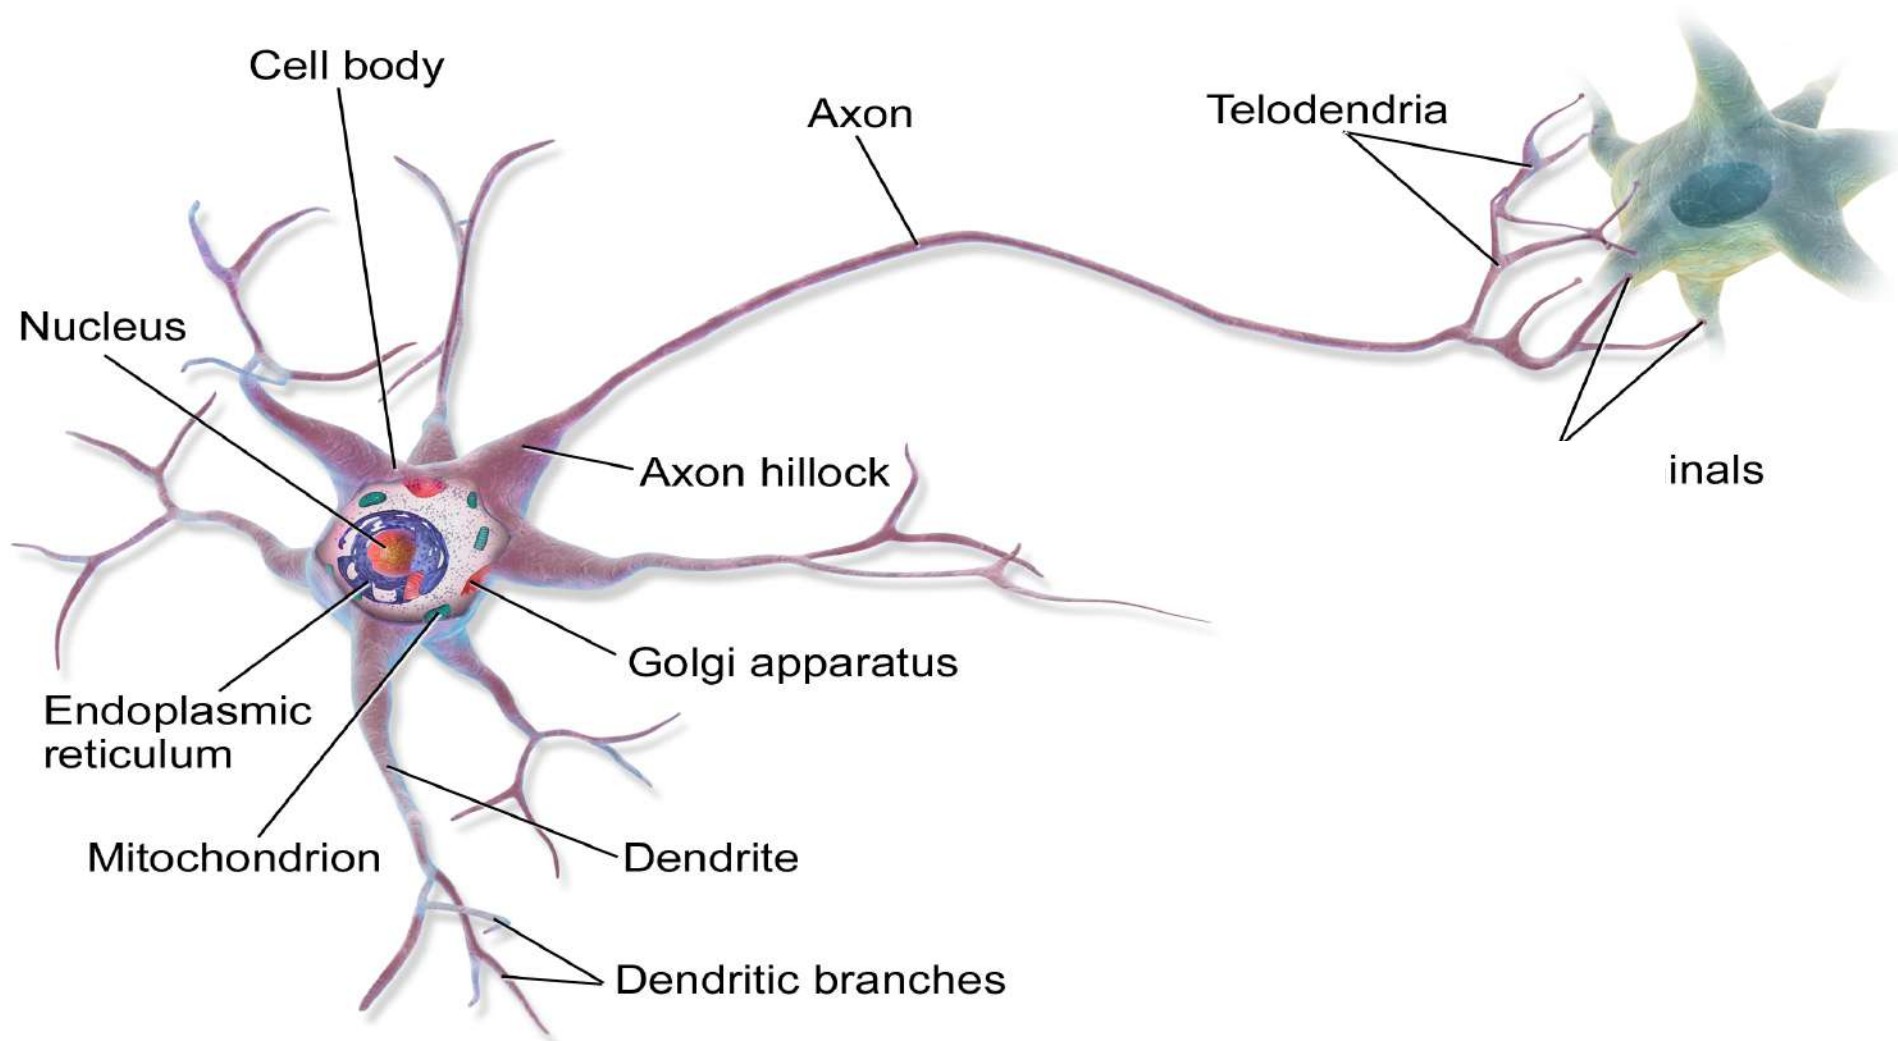

What does this diagram represent?

R

C.

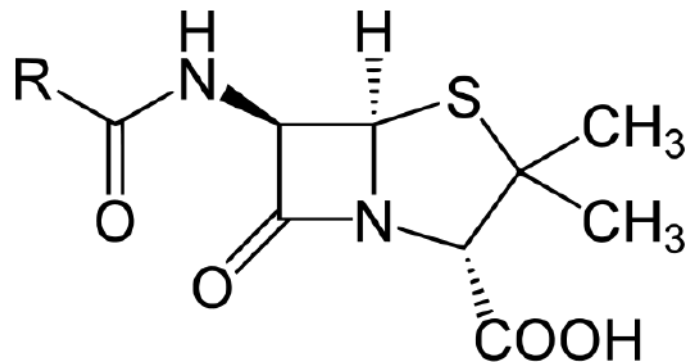

What do we call the gaps between these cells?

When the level of glucose (sugar) in your blood is low, your pancreas releases a hormone called glucagon in order to raise your blood sugar levels.

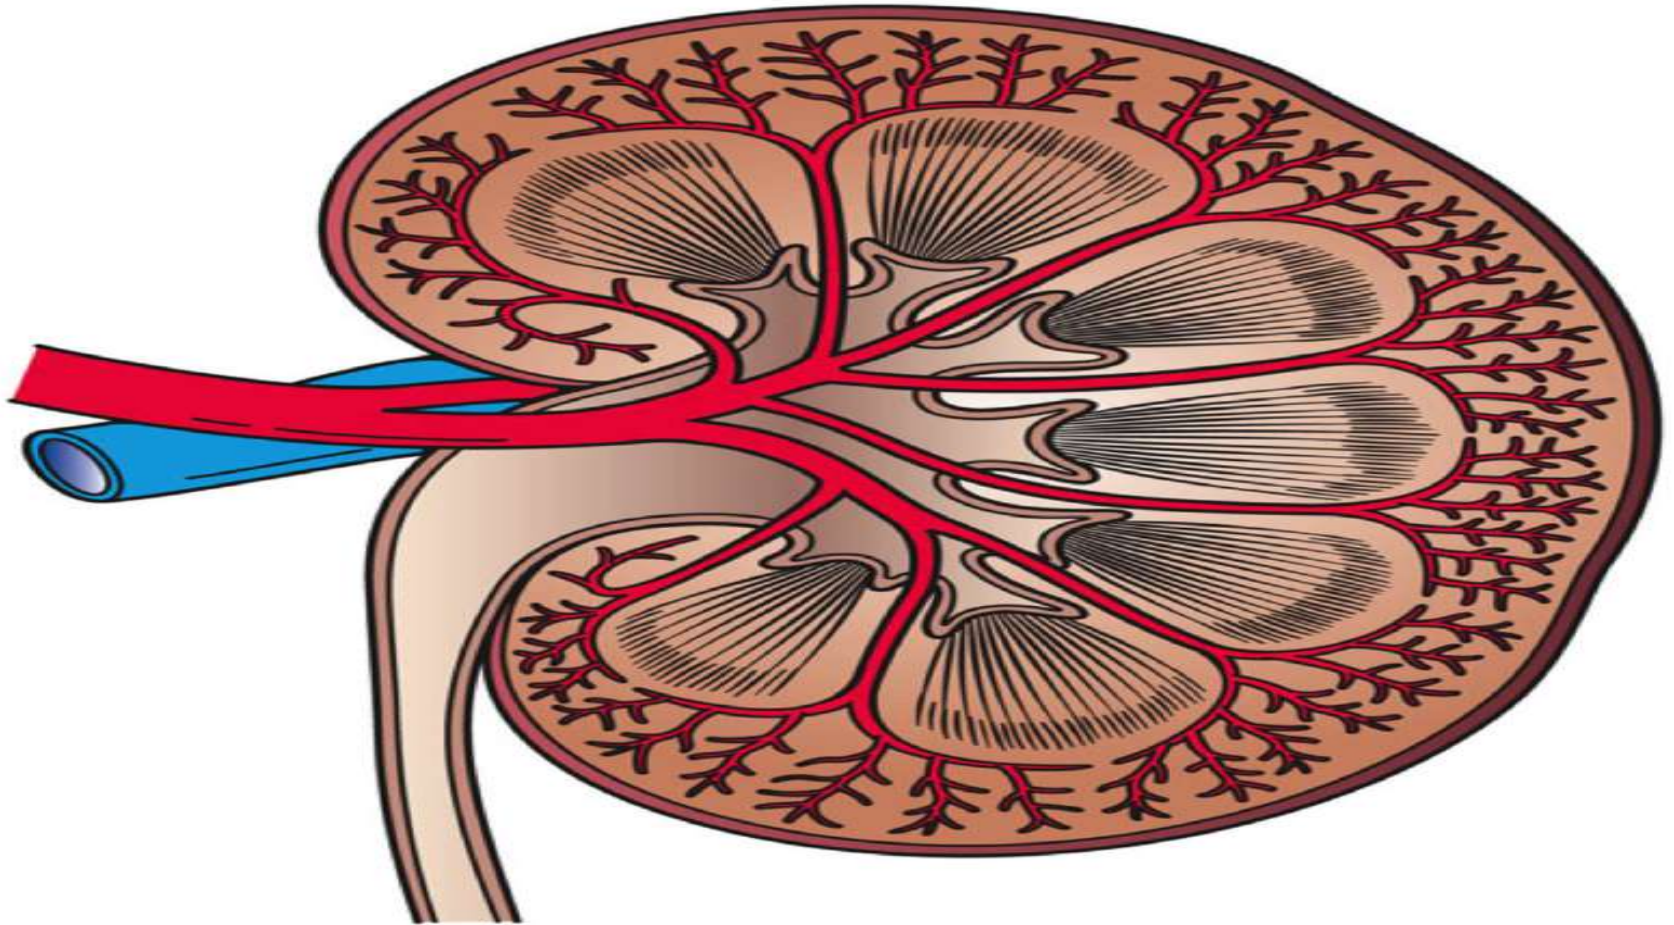

What is this an example of?

What are drugs that help combat bacterial infection called?

What type of neuron tells you that somebody tapped you on the shoulder?

The kidney is a part of what system?

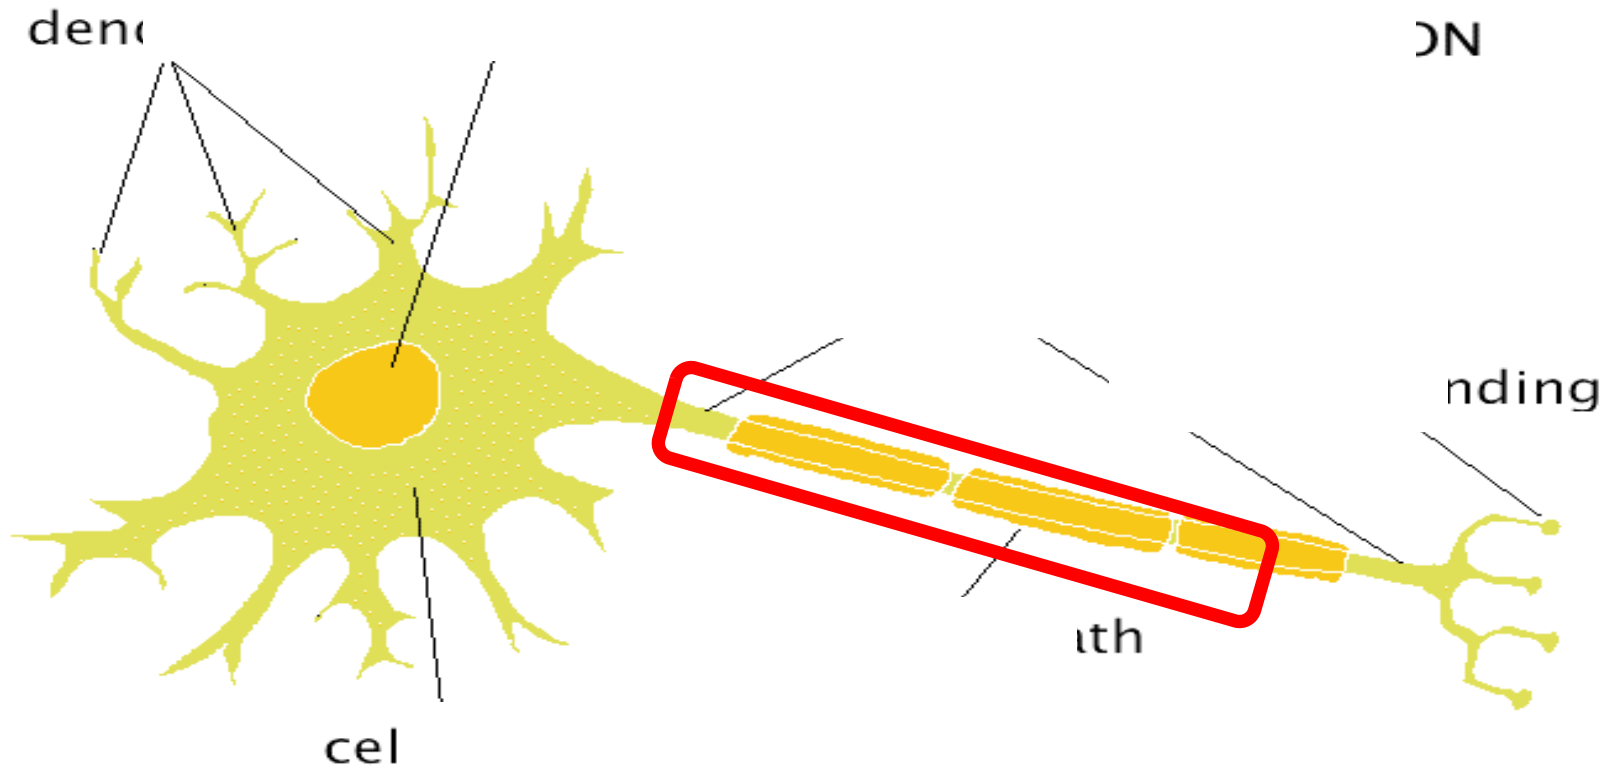

What is the term that we use to describe a treatment that causes your body to produce antibodies against a specific pathogen?

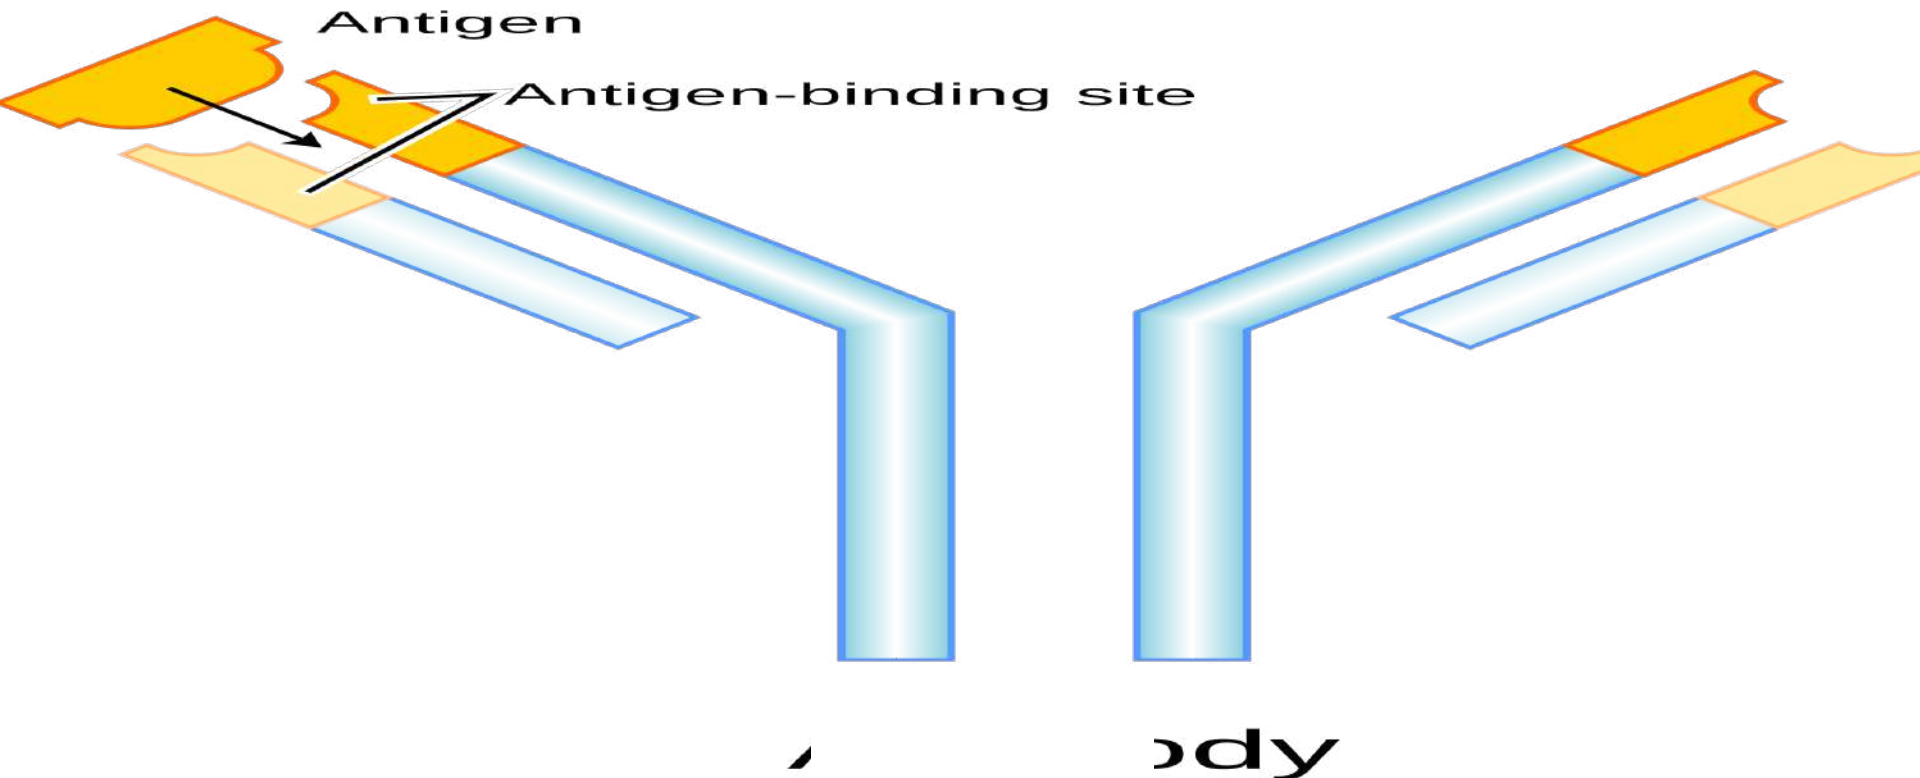

What body system forms a barrier against the outside world?

What is the name of the portion of the neuron in red box?

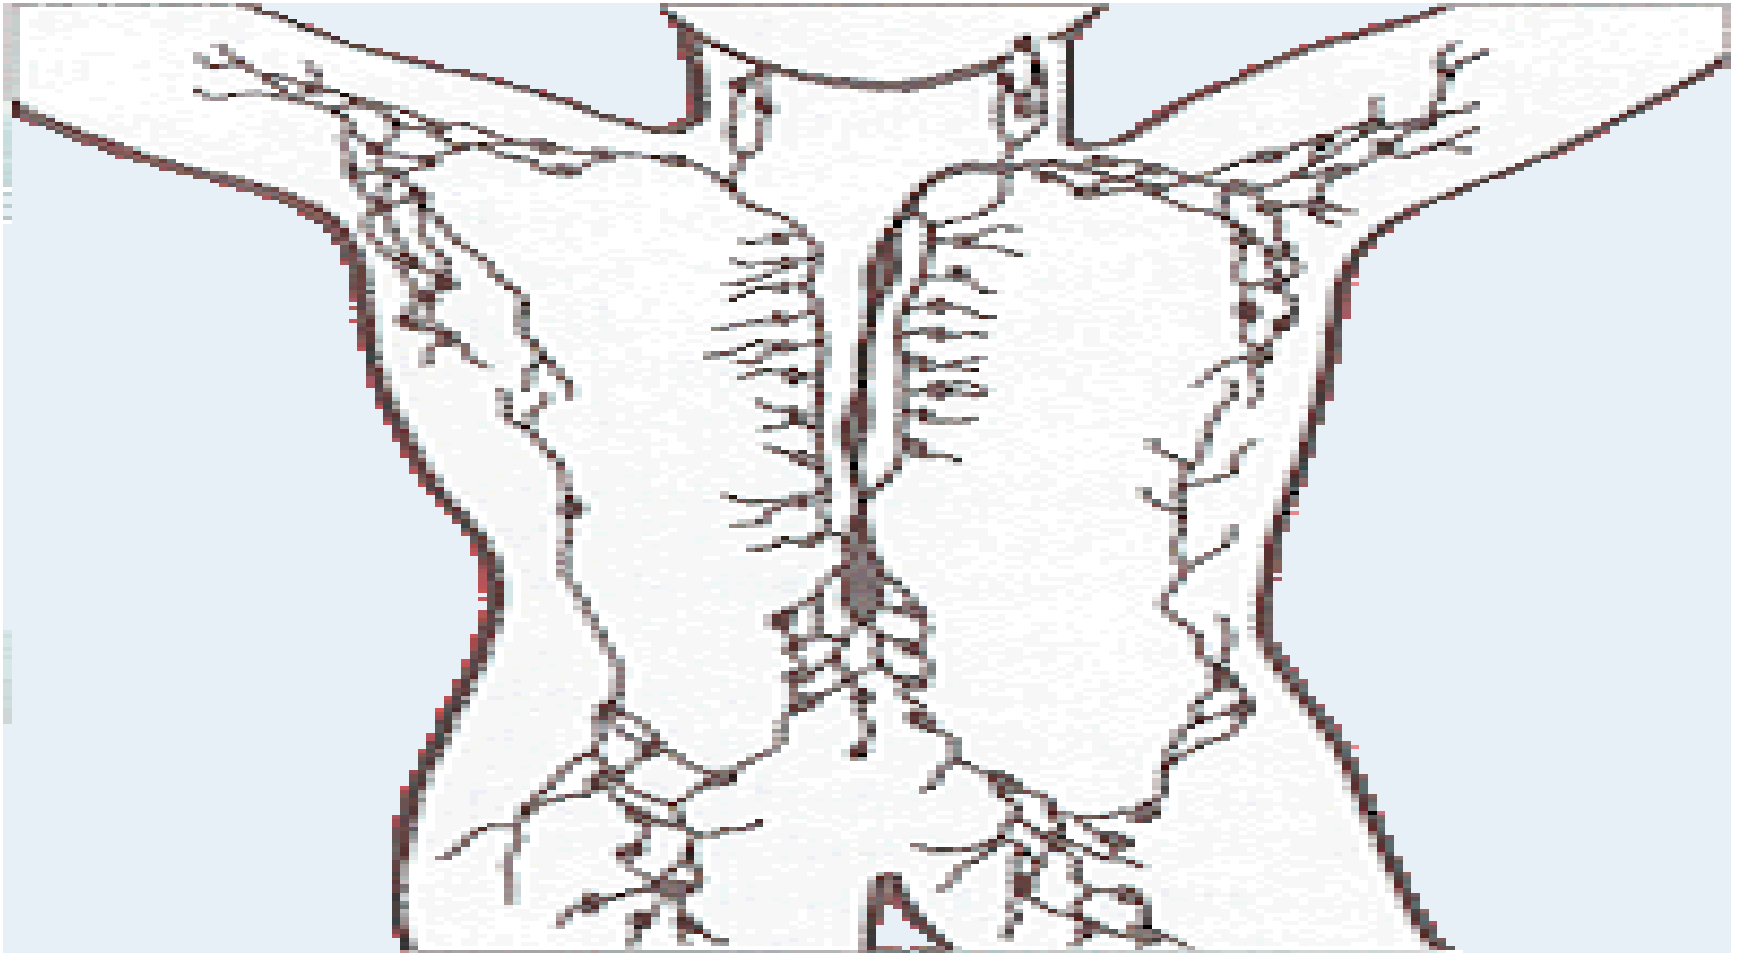

What do B cells produce in order to target specific pathogens?

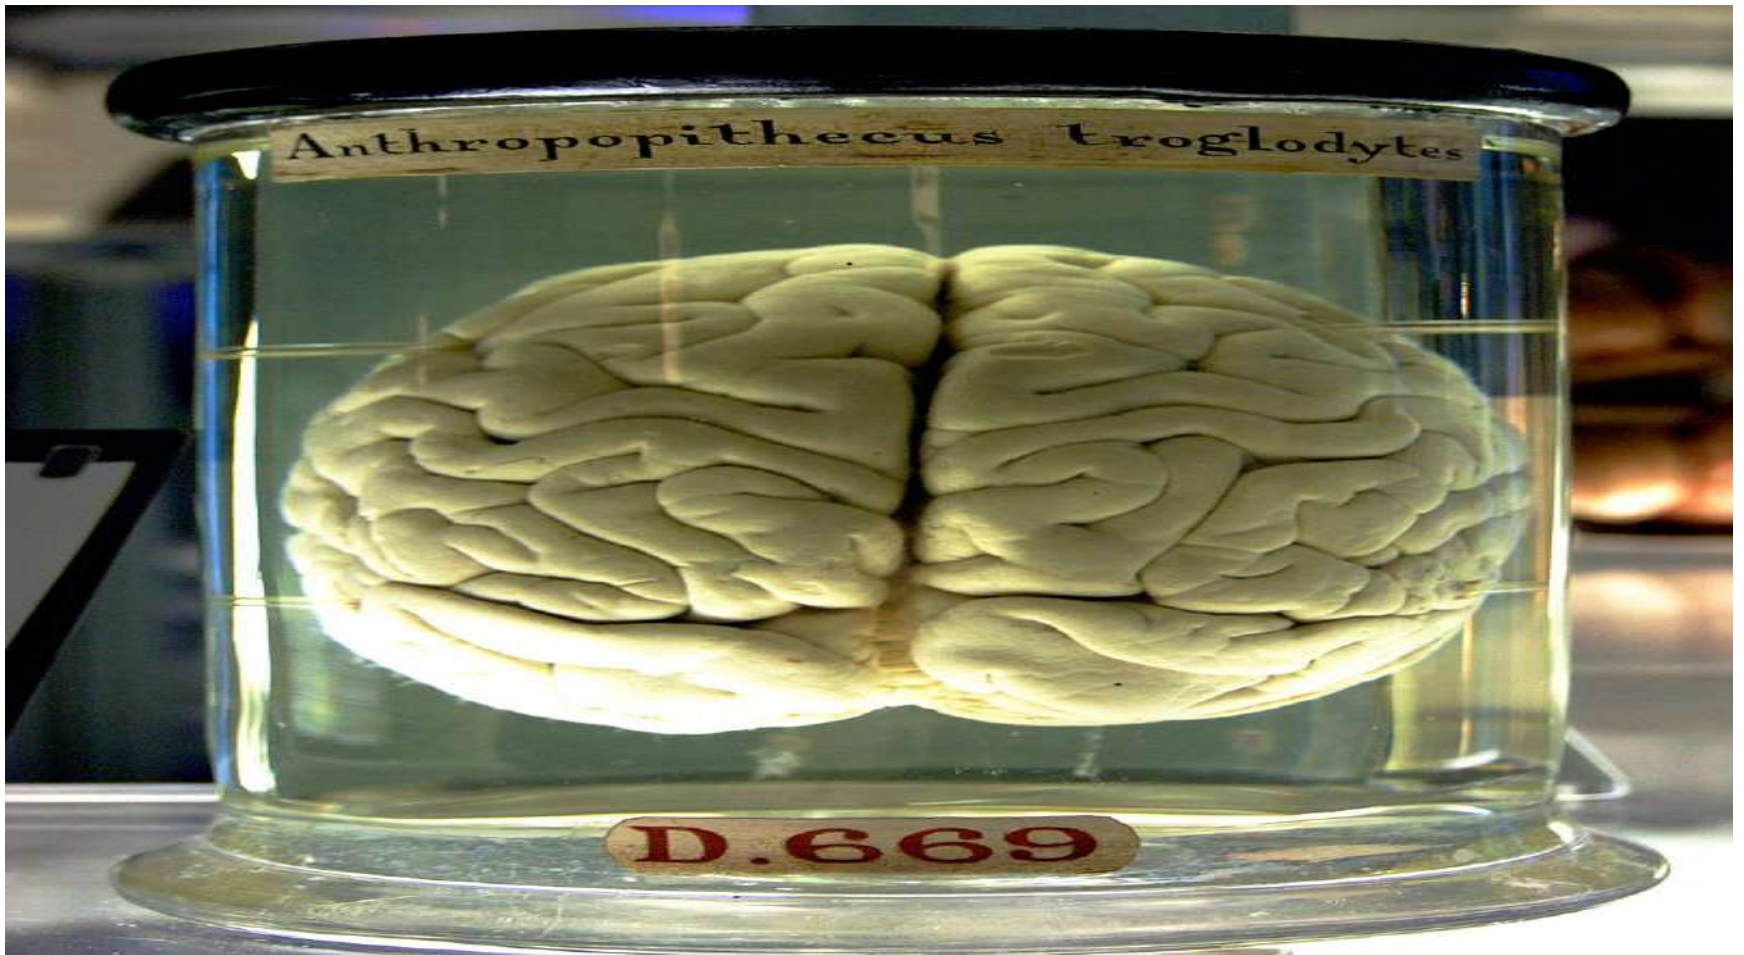

Antigens

This system houses white blood cells

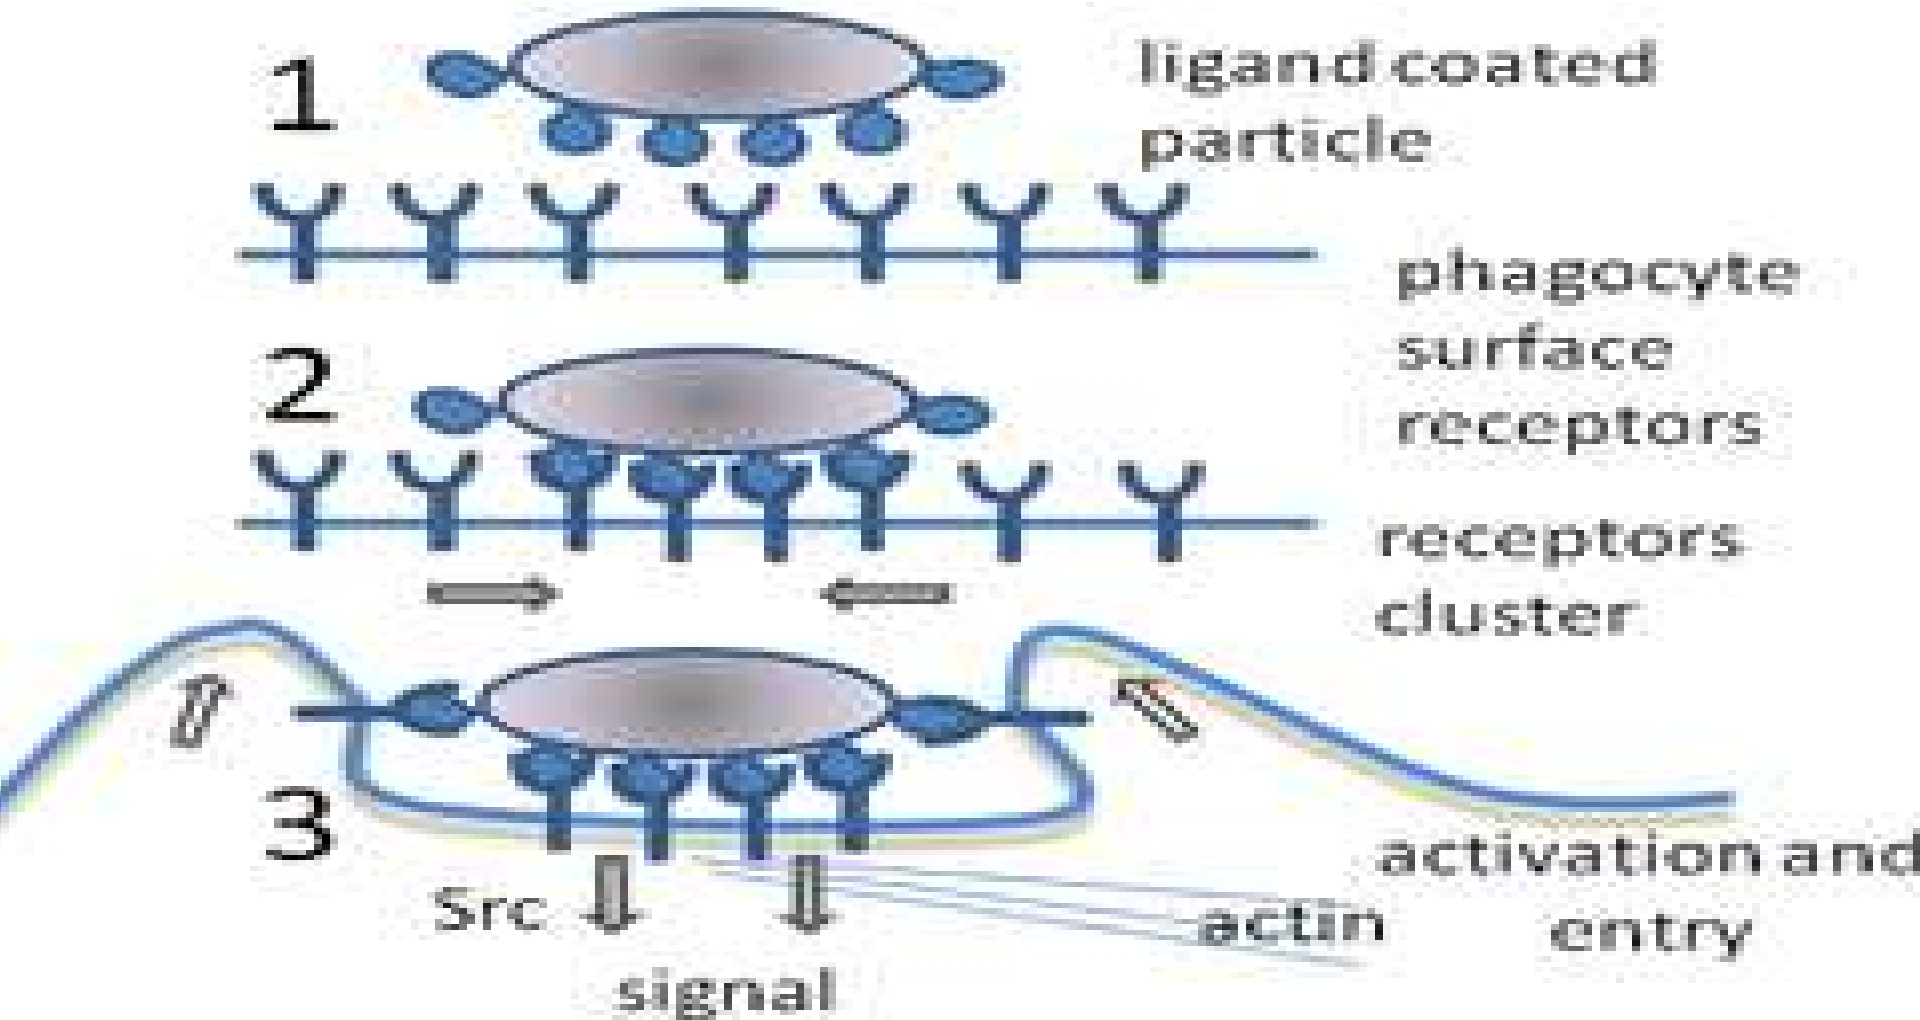

Your brain is made up of this type of neuron

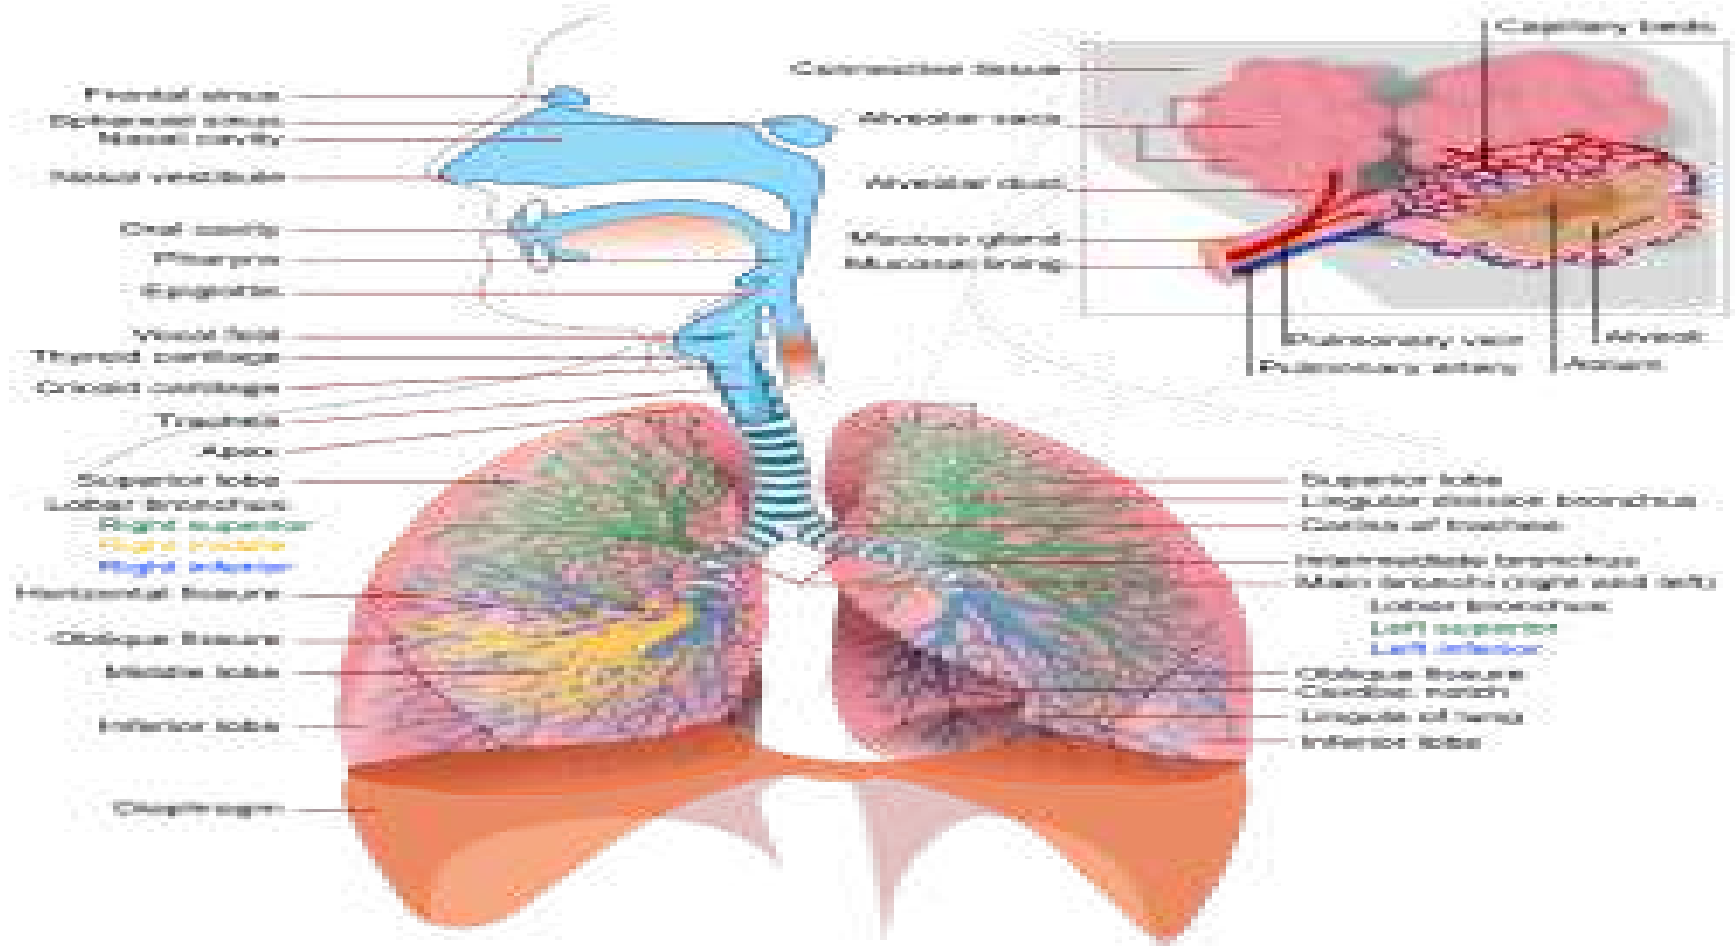

What is it called when your body raises its temperature outside the normal range in response to a pathogen?

What is it called when a white blood cell eats a pathogen?

What does your skin do to maintain homeostasis when you are overheating due to exercise?

What system is responsible for bringing in oxygen and releasing carbon dioxide from your body?

The progression of HIV results in what syndrome?

The following are examples of what?

Bacteria

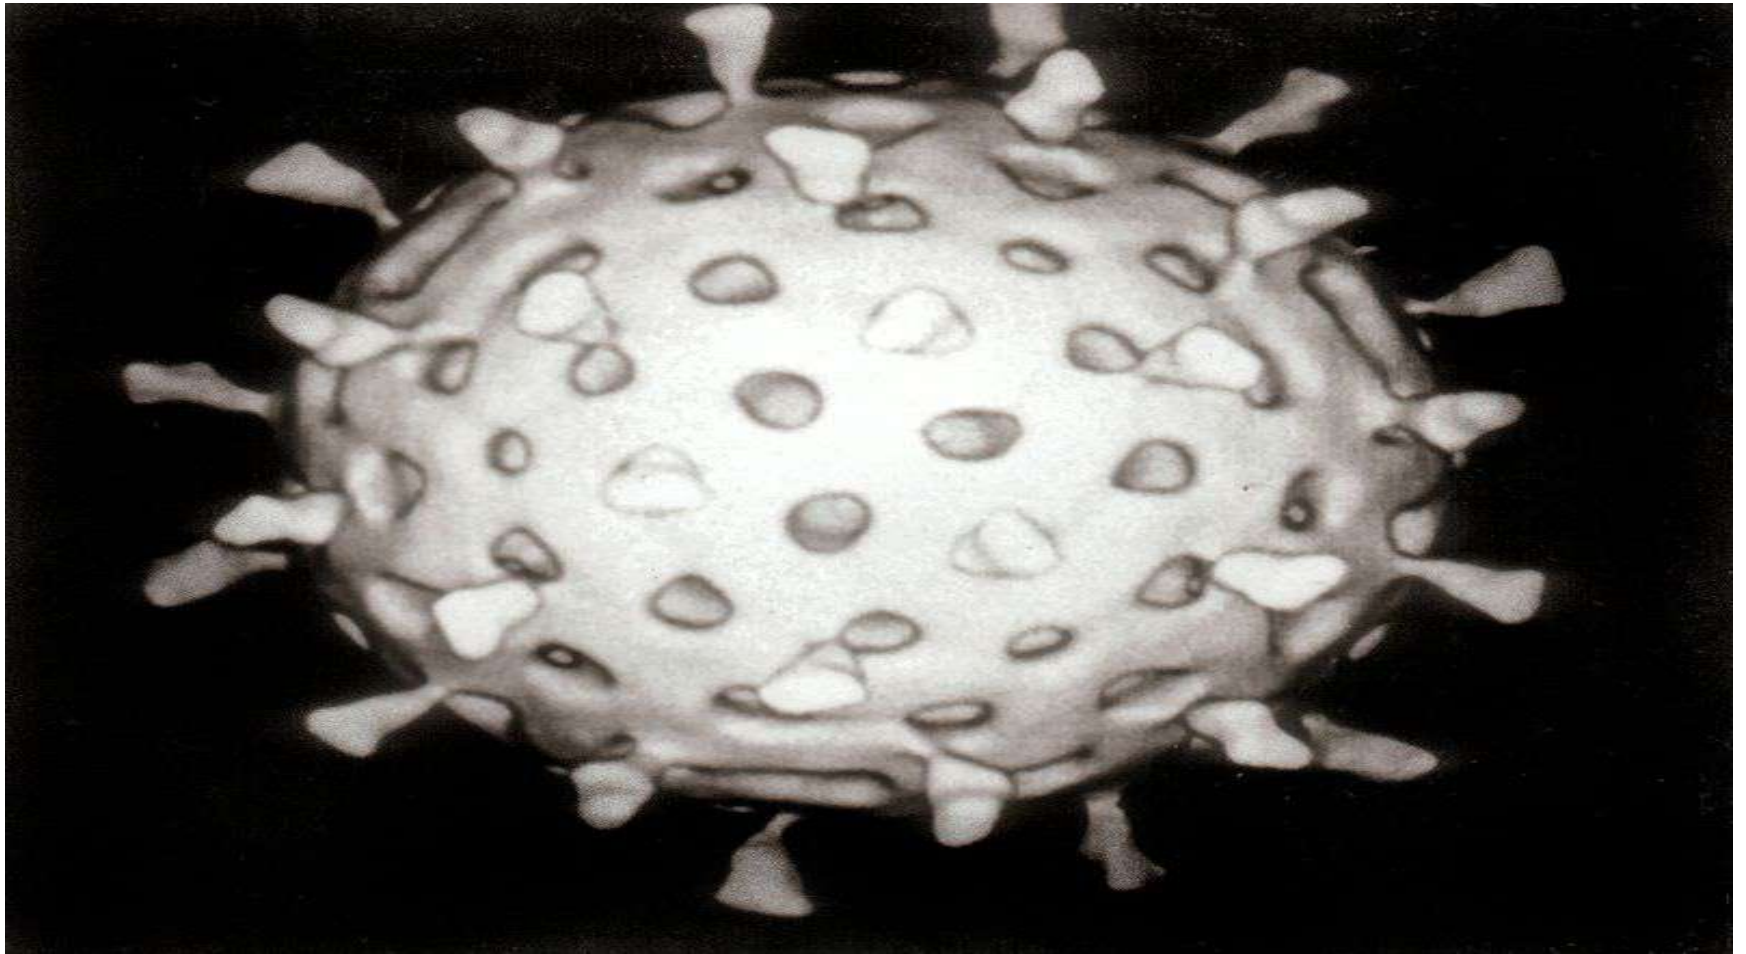

Virus

Parasite

What body system produces hormones that regulate growth and metabolism?

This pathogen is not affected by antibiotics

What are organ systems made of?

What is the name of the portion of the neuron shown by the lines coming off of red box?

