Please use the following rubric as a guide to how to organize your paper:

I. Description

5 points: Author's name, place of publication, date of publication, number of pages in book.

20 points: Summary of book -- important points brought out, highlights, etc.

II. Analysis

10 points: Author's objectives. What did the author intend for the reader in writing this book?

10 points: Universal lessons. Provide examples from the book of lessons that would apply any place or time. These lessons should deal, if possible, with threads of humanity or the universal condition. If you do not feel there is a lesson to be learned from your book, explain why.

10 points: Use of passages to support answer.

III. Appraisal

10 points: Did you like/dislike the book and why?

5 points: What is missing? Is there an unanswered question or issue that is unresolved?

IV. Themes of Geography

20 points: Please integrate, where applicable, the five geographic themes of place/location, movement, perception, human/environment interaction, and region. If you are unsure of the definitions of these terms, you will find them in any dictionary, or a Web inquiry related to the "five themes of geography." You do not have to address them all.

V. Overall Paper

10 points

Total: 100 points

Show Analysis

Watch four (4) episodes of the travel/food shows;

Parts Unknown hosted by Anthony Bourdain, or

Bizarre Foods (Seasons 1-6 are international destinations) hosted by Andrew Zimmerman

Themes to consider;

1. population and development - where we are and the level of our wealth ,
2. migration and language - where we go and what we speak,
3. agriculture, industry, and resources - what we grow, what we make, and how we treat our environment,
4. settlements and services - where we live and what we provide,
5. religion and culture - what we believe and what we do;
6. ethnicity and nationality - who we are.

These shows address geographical issues on multiple levels of scale, and how those issues influence the populations living in the region. Again, as you are watching, keep the above themes in mind. For each of the episodes, briefly describe the following – The location of Bourdain’s or Zimmerman’s visit and its primary features; The major issues affecting the region; The influence of geographical factors on those issues. (The response should be about two paragraphs).

Map Packet

Complete the attached maps by labeling the countries and major cities. Also, label the major physical features for each region.
