UNIT 4 – POLITICAL ORGANIZATION OF SPACE CH 10: TERRITORY, POWER, AND BOUNDARIES

ENDURING UNDERSTANDING (4.B)

By the end of this section, you will understand that spatial political patterns reflect ideas of territoriality and power at a variety of scales.

- Territoriality: connection of people, culture, and their economic system to the land.
- Power: geographic control over people, land, and resources.

LEARNING OBJECTIVE (4.B.3)

By the end of this section, you will be able to analyze the spatial relationships between political systems and patterns of culture and economy.

a. Students will know that political boundaries do not always coincide with patterns of language, religion, ethnicity, nationality, and economy.

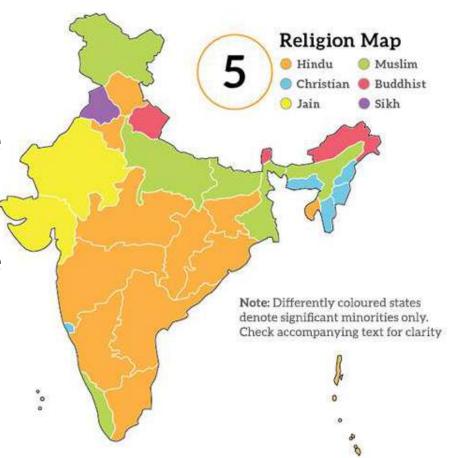

- Sometimes boundaries separate people who speak the same language, practice the same religion, or share other traits.
  - Example: Berlin Conference/Africa
- Other times, a region becomes a Shatterbelt, one that suffers instability because it is located between two very different regions.
  - Example: Eastern Europe between Western Europe (Roman Catholic/Protestant and capitalist) and Russia (Orthodox and communist)
  - Example: Caucasus mountain region and the Sudan

- As people move and boundaries change, so does language as dialects are developed on different sides of the borders
- This can sometimes complicate the process of unification
- Example: Italy after 150 years of unification, people still speak several different languages

- Religion and boundaries cause conflict too
- Example: India mostly Hindus but a large minority are Muslims
- Not all countries with different faiths have conflict, however.
- Non-examples: United States and South Korea

- Ireland
  - Won independence from the UK and formed the Republic of Ireland (95% Roman Catholic)
  - Northern Ireland remained part of the UK (mostly Protestant)
  - Divided Catholics who wanted to be together in one country
  - United Catholics and Protestants into one political entity leading to three decades of violence

Ethnicity, Nationality, and Economy

- Superimposed boundaries may create conflict when space is being shared by two nations.
- Example: Sri Lanka home to the Sinhalese (majority; Buddhists; southern) and the Tamils (minority; Hindus; north and eastern).
- The Tamils feel as if they are treated as second-class citizens and rebelled against the Sinhalese.
- They lost but around 75,000 Sri Lankans lost their lives.
