*The Charleston High School will submit any parent comments to the district if the plan is not satisfactory and will ensure that adequate representation of parents of participating children in the process in a variety of roles.

*The Charleston High School will have various parent meetings and activities throughout the year.

Parents will be kept informed of upcoming events, meetings, ways to participate by the district's website, face book, and twitter accounts.

Charleston High School will have a school parent and family engagement plan available to families and the local community. It will also include contact information of the parent facilitator.

An informational packet will be sent home with every student at the beginning of the school year. The information will be written in an understandable and appropriate format that will include such as items as; parent and family engagement plan, ways for families to be involved in their child's education, a volunteer survey.

Signatures will be obtained from each parent acknowledging receipt of the Family Engagement Plan.

Parents and families will be kept up to date throughout the year of planned activities by way of social media.

Parents can communicate with staff by email, phone, and the home access center in school. The Charleston High School realizes that communication with parents is an important facet in their child's academic success.

The Charleston High School will host two parent teacher conferences, one in the fall and one in the spring. Staff will be available to communicate with parents should parents not be able to attend the parent/teacher conferences.

The Charleston High School Parent and Family Engagement Plan will be placed on the district website by August 1, 2021.

The Parent School Compact will build and develop a partnership to help student achieve the challenging Arkansas state academic standards.

The Parent School Compact will address the importance of regular two-way, meaningful communication through not only two parent/teacher conferences but, the reporting of student progress throughout the year and parents having opportunities to volunteer and observe classroom activities.

Parent-School Compact will be included in the back to school information packet and on the school website.

Volunteer surveys will be sent in the information packet so that parents and family can volunteer their time at the school

Charleston High School with the collaboration with parents will develop the student success plans for their child.

The Parent and Family Engagement is coordinated through the efforts of staff and administration at the high school with the district working together.

The District has a Parent Teacher Organization that works with parents and staff in making decisions for parent activities for the District and making opportunities for parents to be involved in their child's education.

The Family and Community Engagement Plan will be incorporated in the school improvement.

Charleston High School will collaborate with community resources, the district's (SOS) Support Our Students fund, the Homeless Liaison, to help strengthen our programs and student's academic achievement and learning.

*The Charleston High School will host two parent/teacher conferences, one each semester in October and in February.

*Parents are also included in each student's success plan that is developed in the 8th grade and for each year after that. Parents will work with teachers and their child to update and revise the student success plan each year.

*Parents and students are invited to the 9th Grade Orientation (current 8th Graders) that will take place in the spring. The counselor will go over high school graduation requirements, course selections, and high school opportunities.

*The counselor will help students with college application and the free and federal student aid application.
