Students will be online at the beginning of each “orange” time period for whole class instruction or guidance before proceeding with learning activities for each designated block of time. Students needing teacher support or instruction, will remain online during the “blue” time periods.

The “green” block of instruction is scheduled and student specific. Students not asked to return for afternoon session(s) will still have tasks to complete, some online. This may include use of programs in Clever, history or science lessons, art, or music instruction.

The final afternoon “yellow” block is an offline period of structured time for students to complete independent work from the day such as reading, math practice, writing task, and/or activity in preparation for the next day’s lesson. Teachers are available to answer individual student and parent questions during this final afternoon block through email.
