Course Description

Students' SpringBoard journey culminates in Senior English with a year-long focus on using literary theory to analyze complex texts through multiple perspectives. Throughout the level, students will learn about and apply Archetypal, Cultural, Feminist, Historical, Marxist, and Reader Response Criticism to both literary and informational texts. Students will also use their knowledge of these theories to shed new light on film, photography, and media coverage of newsworthy events. Senior English offers many opportunities for students to synthesize their learning through rigorous writing and speaking tasks. Independent research, film study, and presentations go hand in hand with students' study of print texts, and allow students to develop complex and nuanced understandings of the texts, films, and issues in the course.

Learning Experiences and Instruction:

Teachers utilize the Direct Interactive Instruction model to introduce new skills and concepts that are essential to the grade level content standards, then reinforce and develop those skills each quarter with the goal of bringing students to mastery by the end of the fourth quarter. All instruction will be based on the “I do, We do, You do” scaffolding model with an emphasis on individual differentiation as needed. Teachers will use a variety of the following:

- Inquiry-based learning
- Annotated reading
- Think-pair-share
- Reciprocal teaching
- Cloze reading & writing
- Guided reading & writing
- Cognitive modeling
- Text-based questioning strategies
- Graphic organizers/concept attainment
- Student-led groups
- Peer pairing
- Metacognitive learning: self-regulation, goal-setting, self-monitoring, and self-questioning

Support for English Language Learners:

Extra time or modified versions of assignments will be given. The District will provide a language assistant. Additional strategies will be developed through the Response to Intervention plans –such as:

- SDAIE strategies
- Texts/materials in first language.
- Flexible grouping
- Structured engagement
- Peer pairing
- Academic vocabulary development
- Realia

Support for Special Education Students:

Extra time or modified versions of assignments will be given. The District will provide an instructional assistant. Additional strategies will be developed through the Individual Education Plan process – such as:

- Realia
- Texts/materials in first language
- SDAIE strategies
- Flexible grouping
- Peer pairing
- Audio & visual aids
- Individualized academic instruction
- Modified assignments
- Modified texts
- Testing accommodations
- Tutoring (peer & teacher)

Stretching the Lesson for GATE Students:

Differentiated curriculum will be provided to challenge the student and provide the student with opportunities to develop their identified talent. Teachers will use a variety of the following:

- Independent study supplemented with mentoring/tutoring
- Compacting
- Acceleration
- Depth & Complexity icons
- Modified texts
- Modified assignments
- Flexible grouping
- Inquiry-based Learning
- Enriched materials and learning experiences

Unit One—Perception Is Everything

OVERVIEW

In this unit students are introduced to the concept of perspective and are asked to consider how one’s perception determines his or her interpretation of the world. A corollary of this fact is the idea that one’s perception of reality is often filtered through various values, prejudices, and attitudes. In this level, students will learn about and apply multiple literary theories as filters in order to have deeper and richer ways to think about, interpret, and critique literature and life. Literary theory is presented to introduce the idea that the world is full of ideologies, theories, and biases through which students construct an understanding of their own as well as others’ experiences. Studying theory is a means to make students aware of competing visions of truth that they will examine and define from multiple perspectives

Unit Two: The Collective Perspective

OVERVIEW

Unit 2 provides an opportunity to continue the focus on critical perspectives. In this unit, students will learn about Archetypal, Marxist, and Feminist Criticism. Students will analyze characters, characterizations, and relationships between and among individuals and groups in a variety of texts, including drama, film, and nonfiction. Students will deepen their interpretation and discussion of texts by considering the social and cultural implications of analyzing a text from a particular perspective. By studying texts this way, students will start to understand various textual readings and reflect on whether the understanding of these perspectives enhances or limits their engagement with them.

Unit Three: *Evolving Perspectives

OVERVIEW

In this unit, students will deepen their understanding of critical perspectives through the application of Reader Response, Feminist, Marxist, Cultural, and Archetypal Criticism to scenes from a drama. William Shakespeare’s plays, particularly The Tragedy of Othello, the Moor of Venice, provide students the opportunity for utilizing any one of these criticisms in their interpretation, as well as that of the Historical Criticism; introduced in this unit.

Unit Four: Creating Perspectives

OVERVIEW

This unit asks students to assess how the various critical lenses they have been exploring may be applied to real-world events to inform an understanding of the underlying tensions that contribute to the resonance and importance of an event in the context of society. Students analyze print and non-print journalistic texts—and their own reactions to them. They also consider how personal and cultural experiences, assumptions, and biases influence perspectives on what is “true” about an event, becoming filters that strongly influence how we interpret the world. By studying how a single event is reported by different journalistic sources (both initially and over time), students will explore how the critical lenses they have examined influence the way we define truth.

UNIT OBJECTIVES AND CONTENT STANDARDS TO BE ASSESSED

Reading/ Listening Objectives	Content Standards	Where Assessed
● Evaluate media as an information source.	● R.5, R.7	● EA1
● Investigate a variety of perspectives on a single event.	● R.7, R.6	● EA1
● Analyze how different critical perspectives shape the reporting and interpreting of events.	● R.6, R.5, R.3	● EA1
● Conducting analyses based on close reading through a variety of critical perspectives	● R.1, R.2, R.3, R.4, R.5, R.6	● EA1, EA2
Writing/ Speaking Objectives	Content Standards	Where Assessed
● Create a media text applying multiple lenses to the investigation and representation of an event	● W.6, W.7, W.8, SL.2, SL.4, SL.5	● EA2
● Evaluate, select, and use quotations to create an effect for the reader.	● R.1, W.2b	● EA1, EA2

UNIT ASSESSMENT

EA 1: Your assignment is to create an argumentative task, including an annotated bibliography that argues for the use of a particular critical lens to interpret an event, supporting your argument with evidence from at least four texts.

MAJOR TASKS

- EA 2: Your assignment is to create a media text (TV news magazine, short documentary film, network news broadcast, podcast, etc.) in which you transform the information you gathered from your research into an argument concerning the topic/issue you have chosen. It may be recorded or presented live.
- Short writings that apply or argue for a particular critical lens to a text or texts.
- Activity 4.2--Explain how informational texts reflect or reveal critical perspectives.
- Activity 4.4--Analyze the role of bias in contrasting

ESSENTIAL PRACTICES

- Close reading of multiple texts
- Selected writing pieces at the end of activities (e.g., writing to sources...)
- Collaborative activities
- Informal presentations
- Opportunities to demo achievement independent of teacher guidance

Unit Five: Multiple Perspectives

OVERVIEW

Throughout the year, students have applied various critical perspectives to their reading of multiple texts, evaluating how each perspective impacts meaning. Unit Five is the culmination of the year's focus. In it, students apply all of the critical perspectives to a single, graphic or visual text. Students will then build on this foundation as they explore a play or novel with a small group, choosing which critical perspectives to apply and evaluating how each one helps them make meaning.

UNIT ASSESSMENT:

High School Curriculum Map for English IV

You will collaboratively prepare an analysis of a literary work through multiple critical perspectives and present it in a performance-based or visual medium of your choice. Your analysis should include a summary of the text in a visual format.

MAJOR TASKS

- Short writings that apply or argue for a particular critical lens to a text or texts.
- Activity 5.5--analyzes features of graphic novel; apply to visual text of choice.
- Activity 5.11--"The New Colossus" shared with ELD; use to support instruction.
- Activity 5.12--Media Presentation.

Essential for Embedded Assessment (not necessarily graded):

- Activity 5.15 & 16--foundation of analysis of self-selected text for EA.

ESSENTIAL PRACTICES

- Close reading of multiple texts
- Selected writing pieces at the end of activities (e.g., writing to sources...)
- Collaboration on student-led teams for an extended amount of time
- Informal presentations
- Opportunities to demo achievement independent of teacher guidance

SHARED TEXTS

Proposal: Semester Final...

Prepare a reflection on your senior collection (portfolio/collective assignment/collective task).

- explain how your understanding of perspective has developed over the year
- present at least three unique perspectives that you have applied and explain how they have impacted your interpretations of texts previously read.
- Support your understanding of perspective and critical lenses with evidence from your senior collection/ collection of work from the time you have been in Senior English.
