Building from Middle C

You can build your notes going up from Middle C. Remember the musical alphabet is from "A" to "G". So the note going up from Middle C is "D". If you go down, or backwards, from Middle C, you go backwards in the musical alphabet. Starting from Middle C, draw the notes listed on the staff below.

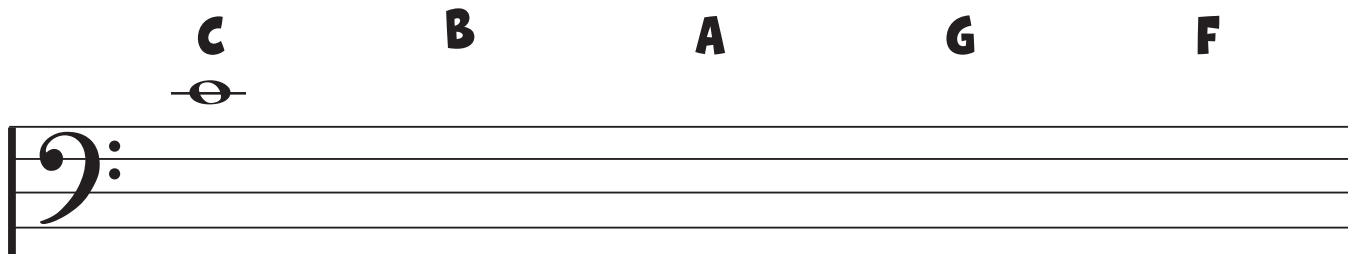

Going UP from Middle C

A musical staff with a treble clef. A single note is drawn on the middle line, labeled with the letter 'C' below it. To the right of this note, the letters 'D', 'E', 'F', and 'G' are spaced out across the staff, indicating the sequence of notes to be drawn.

C D E F G

Going DOWN from Middle C

A musical staff with a bass clef. A single note is drawn on the middle line, labeled with the letter 'C' above it. To the right of this note, the letters 'B', 'A', 'G', and 'F' are spaced out across the staff, indicating the sequence of notes to be drawn.
