MidWest Clinic, 2014

Dr. Williams, three music teachers, representing the elementary, middle, and high school levels, attended the MidWest Clinic International Band and Orchestra Conference, December 17- 20, 2014. Held in Chicago annually since 1946, the Midwest Clinic is the world's largest and most prestigious music education conference in the United States. The conference presented many valuable resources including concerts and music-reading sessions. The events were presented and performed by the world's top performance groups and leading music educators. The conference provided music educators the opportunity to see exemplary instruction, conductors and performances. As attendees, we witnessed and experienced what our district can be and what it should be in the way of instrumental music programs. The clinic hosted over 350 exhibitors, 650 exhibit booths, 40 concerts and 90 clinic opportunities for the 17,000-plus educators in attendance, and offered a plethora of educational resources and information. One of the most beneficial offerings at the Midwest Clinic was the Rehearsal Lab, which provided attendees the chance to watch and listen to well-known conductors working with various ensembles in an open-rehearsal setting. The clinic was very beneficial to the Madera teachers who attend. Information from the conference was shared with staff. Teachers have made agreements to implement many of the strategies learned and shared from the conference.
