

NYU Teacher Residency Danbury, CT

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH

Danbury Public School District is proud to partner with NYU's Teacher Residency, a one-year combined residency and master of arts in teaching (MAT) program, so our District can continue to lead on transformational change on pressing social problems. This partnership reflects the shared visions and values of both organizations, and their belief that young people can keep students on track to graduate from high school and pursue post-secondary education.

Background

The NYU/Danbury Teacher Residency offers a transformative approach to teacher preparation by combining the comprehensive instruction of a master of arts in teaching from a world-renowned research university with deep partnerships in schools across the country. While immersed in one school for an entire year, you are surrounded by a community of support from fellow teacher residents, in-school teacher mentors, and NYU Steinhardt faculty working together to cultivate your growth into an effective teacher. When it's time to lead a classroom of your own, you are ready on day one. You will have the practical foundation to meet the needs of each student and confidently know how to build an equitable community of learners of all backgrounds and all instructional needs.

Learn more about the NYU/Danbury Teacher Residency experience.

Why Apply?

You'll acquire valuable classroom experience in an urban middle or high school as you study to become a certified English, math, social studies, science, or special education teacher. Program features include:

- Residency year with a paid position as a building substitute at a preferred rate of $18,000/school year

- Innovative curriculum developed and taught virtually by NYU Steinhardt faculty
- Supportive learning communities with fellow Resident Interns and teaching mentors
- Regular feedback and coaching on your teaching in one-on-one and small group sessions with NYU Steinhardt faculty
- Affordable tuition and scholarship support for eligible students

Who Can Apply?

College graduates with a strong academic grounding in English, math, social studies, or science are encouraged to apply. To qualify for special education, you need a foundation in the liberal arts and a desire to support students with special needs. While no previous teaching experience or education coursework is necessary, a commitment to social justice and a strong belief that every child deserves a great education is required.

How to Apply

NYU Steinhardt is currently accepting applications for its 2020 Teacher Residency cohort in Danbury at teachereducation.steinhardt.nyu.edu. For questions, please contact NYU Steinhardt's Teacher Residency at admissions@edinnovation.steinhardt.nyu.edu or 877-710-6381. Click here to learn about the application process. Cohorts start in June.

Contact the Admissions Office:

Email:

admissions@edinnovation.steinhardt.nyu.edu

Phone:

877-710-6381

Please note that all admissions decisions are made by the NYU Teacher Residency. Danbury employees interested in applying must complete the full application process with NYU.

Upon successful completion of the program, eligible participants will receive preferential hiring as full-time teachers.