

Parents and Guardians of Mathematicians

I commit to...

- Reading information sent home from my child's teacher.
- Asking my child's teacher for help or more information when I am unsure about a topic or want to understand my child's progress.
- Reinforcing the teacher's methods, not teaching my child math the way I learned it (unless that is how they are learning it).
- Speaking positively about math around and in front of my child.
- Helping my child notice math around them and in the real world.
