

Author and Me?

The answer is not in the text, but you still need information that the author has given you,

along with what you
already know to answer
this question.

On My Own?

The answer is not in the text in fact it's not necessary to read the text to be able to answer the question.

Right There

Questions...

are questions where the answer is located in one place in the text.

Think and Search

Questions...

are questions where the answers are located in many places in the text.