

WWII Vocabulary: Pictowords

For each definition card, identify which word is being defined. Then draw a pictoword for the concept – a picture which includes the word and will help you remember the meaning of the word.

The words are:

totalitarianism, democracy, propaganda, imperialism, appeasement, fascism, isolationism, alliance

Word: A union or association of nations that is set up to further the common interests of its members.	Word: A policy of giving in to the demands of a hostile power to avoid conflict and maintain peace.
Word: A government in which the power and authority rest with the people. People usually express their power through voting. The government is essentially run by the people.	Word: A political philosophy that calls for the glorification of the nation above the individual, a centralized government headed by a dictatorial leader, economic and social regimentation, and the use of force against opposition.

Word:

The practice of seeking the extension of a nation's control by acquiring new territory. Often this is done solely for the benefit of the larger nation and at the expense of the smaller territory.

Word:

The belief that a nation should stand alone and not get involved in the affairs and conflicts of other nations.

Word:

Media that supports the spread of ideas for the purpose of helping or damaging a cause. It influences people to accept a certain point of view by appealing to their emotions rather than their rationality.

Word:

A form of government in which the government is supreme and the individual have few rights. Total control of the government rests in the hands of one or a few persons.