Mountain Lions, the SEL word of the week is Awareness. Being aware is the ability to know when something is happening or exists and then being able to understand your thoughts, feelings and beliefs about what is happening. One of the most important kinds of awareness is self-awareness. When you are self-aware you are in tune with your feelings, thoughts and actions. It also means you know what you're good at and what you need to work on to get better. Being self-aware also means being able to recognize how people see you. It is good to be self-aware because it helps you judge how well you're performing or doing in your academic work and whether or not you are behaving responsibly and appropriately in all social situations.

Students will be entered in a raffle if they have the following:

- Student Publication Form turned in by Monday, January 31st
- Student Identification Card (and wears it daily)
- School Uniform (and wears it on required days)

Raffle will take place in February.
