Assessment Overview

Food or Sewing Labs (Formative and Summative Grades):

Because of the difficulty in making up a lab, it is important for students to try to be here on the assigned lab date. If it is necessary to make up a food lab, or if for some other reason the student cannot participate in the lab, I have several alternate assignments that may be done in class or at home.

Classroom Work & Quizzes (Formative Grades):

Most classroom assignments are combined by unit and will cover multiple days of instruction. These assignments will be completed in the student’s class folder and graded individually or as a unit.

Final (Summative Grade):

There is a final at the end of each semester in Family and Consumer Science. The final is a combination of multiple choice, essay, short answer, and performance-based questions.
