MINI LESSON – THE CURRENT US POET LAUREATE

- Joy Harjo (born May 9, 1951) is a poet, musician, playwright, and author. She is the incumbent United States Poet Laureate, the first Native American to hold that honor. Harjo is a member of the Muscogee Nation (Este Mvskokvlke) and belongs to Oce Vpofv (Hickory Ground).

"I knew that if this was what I was supposed to do, I would find my way."

Joy Harjo

Perhaps the World Ends Here

Joy Harjo - 1951-

The world begins at a kitchen table. No matter what, we must eat to live.

The gifts of earth are brought and prepared, set on the table. So it has been since creation, and it will go on.

We chase chickens or dogs away from it. Babies teethe at the corners. They scrape their knees under it.

It is here that children are given instructions on what it means to be human. We make men at it, we make women.

At this table we gossip, recall enemies and the ghosts of lovers.

Our dreams drink coffee with us as they put their arms around our children. They laugh with us at our poor falling-down selves and as we put ourselves back together once again at the table.

This table has been a house in the rain, an umbrella in the sun.

Wars have begun and ended at this table. It is a place to hide in the shadow of terror. A place to celebrate the terrible victory.

We have given birth on this table, and have prepared our parents for burial here.

At this table we sing with joy, with sorrow. We pray of suffering and remorse. We give thanks.

Perhaps the world will end at the kitchen table, while we are laughing and crying, eating of the last sweet bite.

THANK YOU!

- If anyone has questions, you can ask them now – either unmute OR type them in.
- Do not exit until I've taken roll. Just give me another minute and then I'll officially end.
- I wish you all a wonderful Thanksgiving Break – relax, rest, and read a good book! 😊

You are not a leaf.

No matter how often you fall
you can rise again.

-James Andrew Crosby-
