Empire fell apart; restored by Tang Dynasty in 618	Empire fell apart; never restored

After the Han Dynasty collapsed in 220 A.D., no emperor was strong enough to unify China

Over the next 350 years, more than 30 local dynasties rose & fell

In 589, China was unified again & a strong central government was restored

...the restoration of the examination system allowed intelligent

During the Tang & Song Dynasties, China experienced an extended “golden age” & became the richest, most powerful, & most advanced country in the world

Emperors did their best to try to protect the routes along the Silk Road

Chinese merchants relied on ocean routes as well to trade with India & Arabia

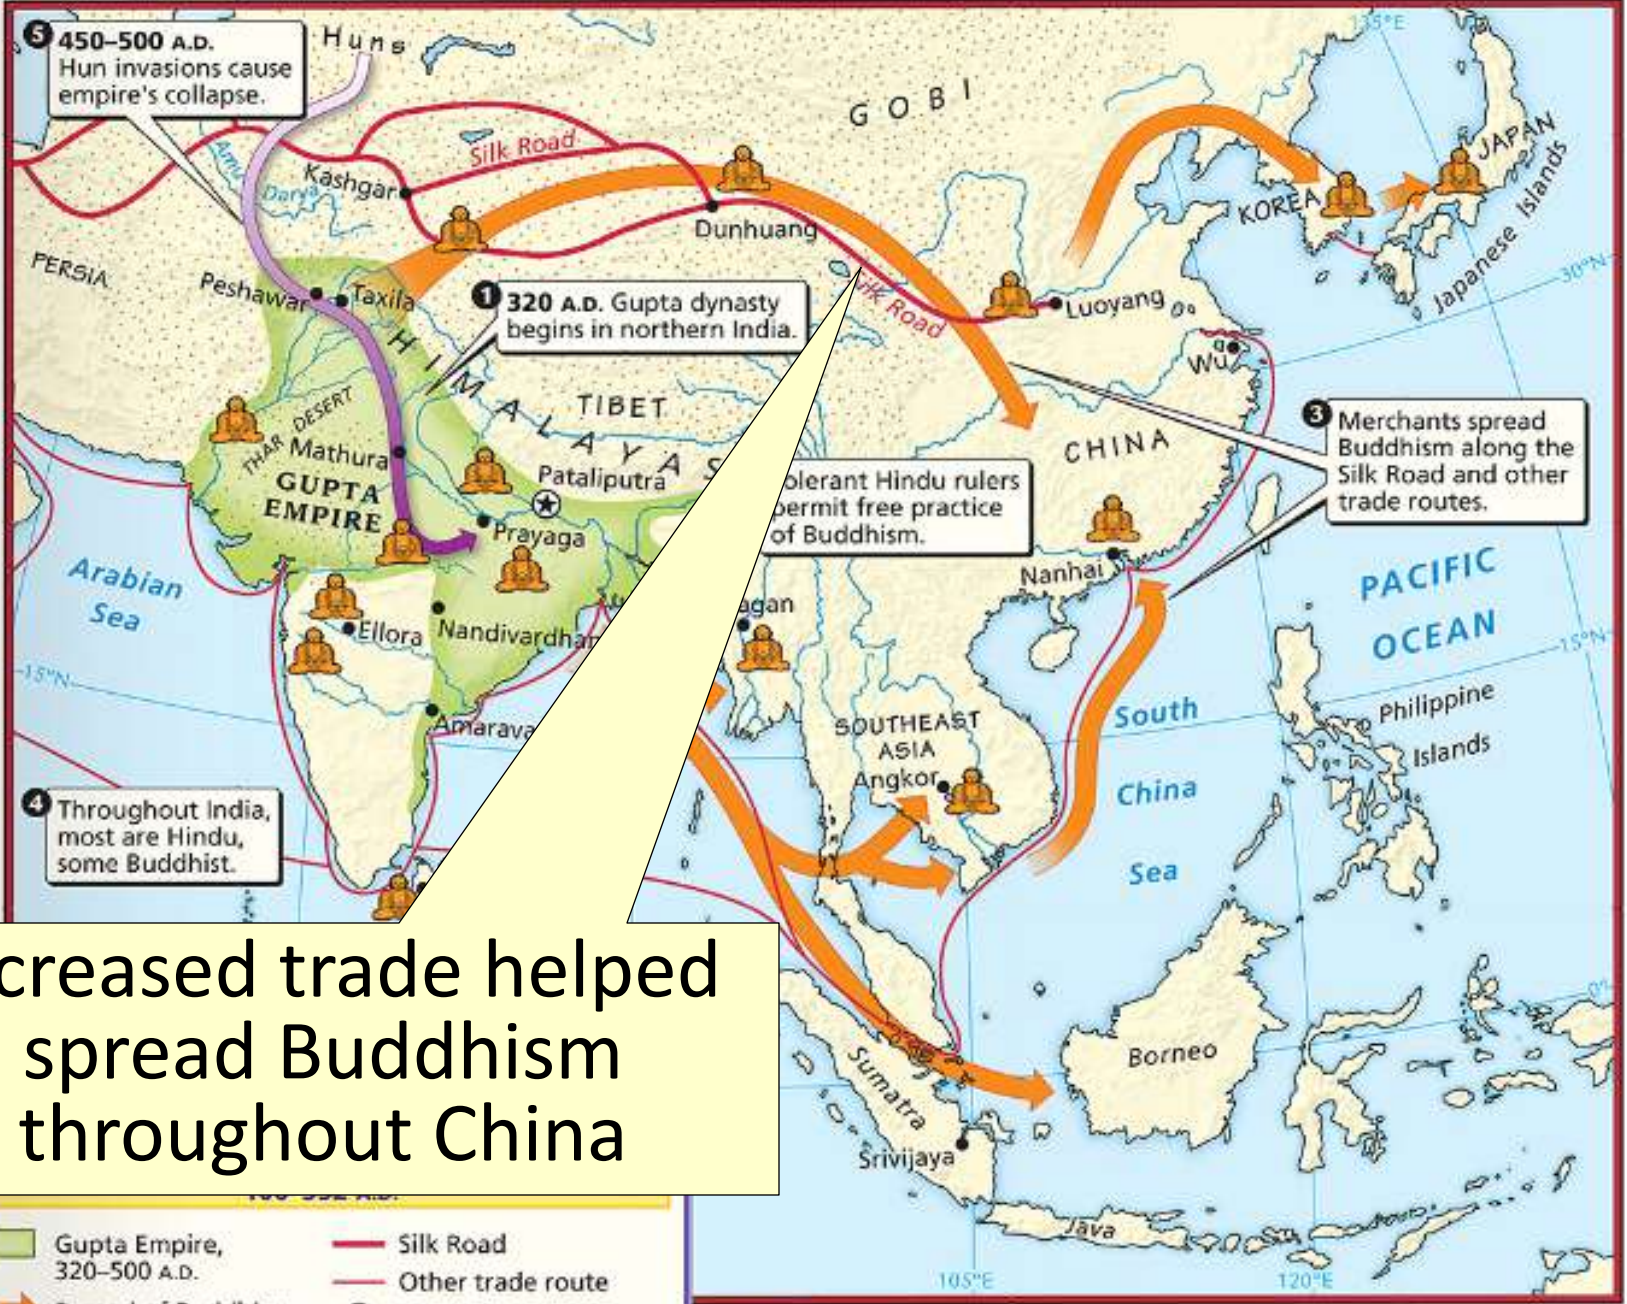

Increased trade led to the spread of Chinese culture (centralized gov't, Confucianism, & writing) to Korea, Japan, & Southeast Asia

Zheng He led 7 different expeditions

Zheng He explored areas along the Indian Ocean & Africa, expand trade, & collected tribute from foreigners

Chinese Isolation

- After the 7th treasure fleet voyage in 1433, Chinese leaders unexpectedly ended the expeditions & retreated into isolationism
 - Scholar-officials complained that Zheng He's voyages used valuable resources that were needed to defend China
 - China's official trade policy was to keep the influence of outsiders to a minimum
 - China's geography & gov't policies kept it relatively isolated for the next 300 years until European merchants in the 1800s demanded access to Chinese trade
