

Self-Selected Reading Project: One-Pager

Due: March 8, 2016

After reading your independent reading book this nine weeks, you are going to create a “one-pager” in which you draw/represent major ideas from the novel. The One-Pager should include the following:

- the title of the novel
- a short summary of the novel (4~5 sentences)
- three important quotes from the novel
- a personal response to the novel (at least three sentences)
You may want to include here what you learned from reading the novel.
- at least three pictures of major people/things/events from the novel
- at least three symbols from the novel and what they represent
- at least two other items/pictures that represent literary elements from the novel (foreshadowing/symbolism/irony/figurative language, etc.)
- One the back of the one-pager, you are to write 1~2 paragraphs in which you discuss the theme of the book. Include at least three pieces of evidence from the book in your response.

You can use markers, colored pencils, and any other items to make your one-pager stand out from the crowd. You can also create a computer-generated one pager if you so desire. Be creative and do your best.
