

FAMILY AND CAREGIVER ACTIVITY

Supporting Young English Learners Through Asking and Answering Questions About an Informational Text

From the National Center for Education Evaluation at IES

Families and caregivers, you play an important role in your child's language learning. Children can strengthen their language every day by asking and answering questions about a topic or an informational text. In this activity you will ask your child to talk about what they read, hear, or know about a topic or an informational text.

Keep in mind:

- You and your child can use your home language or English, whichever is strongest for you.
- Asking and answering questions in your home language will also help your child with English.
- Enjoy this time with your child. Learning together is fun!

Why ask and answer questions about a topic or informational text?

Asking and answering questions about a topic or informational text allows children to strengthen their language.

Let's get started!

Follow the steps below. See the back for informational text ideas and additional language supports.

П	-		l
Ш		Ξ
Ш

Step 1: Share or read an informational text with your child, such as animals, food, or something they're learning about or are interested in.

Step 2: Ask questions before, during, and after reading the informational text.

Learning Goal: Children will strengthen their oral language skills

Grades: Kindergarten–3rd grade

Materials: A topic or informational text that you would like to share with your child; paper and crayons, pencils, or markers

- Help your child "stretch their language." If your child answers your question with one word, ask them to add more to their answer. You can model this for them.
- Ask surface- and deeper-level questions. Surface-level questions help your child recall what they read in the text. Example: What was the text about? Deeper-level questions help your child to think more about the text and put ideas together. Example: What is most interesting about this text? Why?

Step 3: Encourage your child to draw or write about the topic.

This activity sheet helps families and caregivers carry out recommended practices described in the What Works Clearinghouse educator's practice guide, Teaching Academic Content and Literacy to English Learners in Elementary and Middle School. You can view the full guide here: https://ies.ed.gov/ncee/wwc/ PracticeGuide/19

September 2020

Regional Educational Laboratories West, Northwest, Northeast & Islands

Family and Caregiver Activity: Supporting Young English Learners Through Asking and Answering Questions About an Informational Text

Types of Informational Texts to Read and Talk About With Your Child

- Books, videos, or websites that share facts about something (animals, fruit, weather, sports, etc.)
- Newspaper articles
- Text from a magazine

From this part of the text, "

- Schoolwork
- Cereal boxes

• Instructions (how to play a game, operate a new toy, etc.)

Additional Language Supports

Your child can stretch or develop their language when asking and answering questions about a topic or an informational text. Consider using the questions and responses below as you discuss the informational text with your child.

Surface-Level Questions to Ask About a Topic or Informational Text	Possible Responses
What did this text tell us about?	This text was about
What do you already know about?	I already know about
What do you wonder about?	I wonder about and
Why does happen? How do we know?	I think this happens because
Deeper-Level Questions to Ask About a Topic or Informational Text	Possible Responses
What if?	I think because
What is most interesting about this text? Why?	is most interesting because .

What did you learn from the text?

Language Challenge:

Children can strengthen their language every day by asking and answering questions about a topic or an informational text. Now that your child has answered questions, encourage them to ask questions for you to answer about a topic or an informational text. Children can create their own questions to ask you or they can use some of the questions in the table above. Asking questions allows children to stretch their language on a daily basis.

," I learned

This product was prepared under Contract ED-IES-17-C-0012/8/9 by Regional Educational Laboratories West, Northeast & Islands, and Northwest. The content does not necessarily reflect the views or policies of IES or the U.S. Department of Education, nor does mention of trade names, commercial products, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.