If your student is interested in taking private lessons, see Riverwatch Band website for a list of instrument-specific private teachers. The summer is a great time to start private lessons to receive even more individualized instruction, and lessons help students get ahead in preparations for learning more advanced music.

Most successful All-State Band students throughout the state study privately on their instruments. Students interested in Symphonic Band are also encouraged to take private lessons.

Students, please be sure to practice over the summer. We look forward to an even better year of band at Riverwatch next year!
