

Answer Before Selecting ABCD!

Multiple choice answer options can sometimes distract or influence your thinking about the question. It can be a good idea to answer the question in your own words before you even look at the answer choices.

Read the multiple choice question but not the answer choices.

Answer the question using your own words. Write down your answer.

Look at the answer choices. Choose the option that matches your answer.

If none of the choices match your answer, reread the text and look for evidence to support the answer choices given.

PUT IT INTO PRACTICE

When you are taking the test, cover up the answer choices with your hand and answer the question using your own words.
