

Advanced Placement Updates from College Board

In order to support students in continuing their AP journey, College Board is offering optional free, online AP classes and take-at-home AP Exams.

Parents and students can get additional information about this year's exam administration, including details about exam dates, times, and tasks below

The full update can be found at <https://apcoronavirusupdates.collegeboard.org/students>

- ❖ AP Testing will not be done in schools this May. AP exam registrants will be offered the opportunity to test from home on-line with 45 minute exams, taking only free response questions, and no multiple choice questions.
- ❖ AP Exams will focus on the first 75% of the yearly curriculum, or what students were most likely already taught before school stopped.
- ❖ Students may elect to take the at-home exam or cancel the exam and receive a full refund.
- ❖ College Board will offer free AP Review sessions on line beginning Wednesday March 25th, and run at various times for the different courses. Students can watch the sessions later On Demand if they can't watch live. Schedules for these sessions can be found at <https://apstudents.collegeboard.org/coronavirus-updates#free-ap-classes>.
- ❖ Special stipulations for certain exams:

AP Studio Art: All submissions will be digital (pictures) with no physical artwork being mailed. Deadline for a reduced digital submission requirement will be May 26th.

Computer Science Principles: The exam will be entirely project-based digital submission with NO written exam. Digital submission deadline extended to May 26th.
