

Name _____

Chapter 6-11 Review for TKAM Test 2

Chapter 6

On Dill's last night in _____ Maycomb _____, Jem and Dill plan to peep into _____ Radley _____'s house. Scout becomes involved, despite her fears, because Jem accuses her of acting like a _____. While the children are on the _____ Radley _____ property, Mr. _____ Nathan _____ Radley hears noises, comes outside, and _____ shoots _____. As the children are running away, Jem's _____ pants _____ become stuck on the fence and he must leave them there. The neighbors gather after hearing the _____ ruckus _____, and the adults quickly become aware of Jem's state of undress. Dill covers for them by saying they were playing _____ strip poker _____, and he won Jem's _____ pants _____ off of him. Atticus tells Jem to retrieve them. In the early hours of the morning, Jem goes back to the _____ Radley _____ property to retrieve his _____ pants _____.

Chapter 7

_____ Summer _____ starts again. Jem finally tells Scout the whole story about retrieving his _____ pants _____. When he returned they were folded and _____ sewed _____ like someone was waiting for him. Over the next weeks, Scout and Jem find more treasures in the _____ tree knot _____: soap _____ caricatures _____, gum, a tarnished _____ medal _____, and a broken _____ watch _____. They write a thank you note to put in the _____ tree knot _____, but when they go to leave it they find that the hole has been plugged up with _____ cement _____. Nathan Radley said the tree is _____ dead _____, although it appears healthy. Jem spends the evening outside gazing at the tree. When he comes inside it is clear that he has been _____ crying _____.

Chapter 8

A true cold _____ winter _____ arrives in Alabama. _____ Snow _____ falls, a phenomenon not seen since _____ 1885 _____. Miss _____ Maudie _____'s house catches fire in the night and burns to the ground. When the Finches return to their home in the morning, _____ Atticus _____ asks Scout where she got the _____ blanket _____ that is around her shoulders. Scout realizes that _____ Boo _____ must have covered her up, she didn't even notice. The next day Scout and Jem speak to Miss Maudie about losing her _____ house _____; she doesn't seem that upset.

Chapter 9

Scout fights _____ Francis _____ for calling _____ Atticus _____ a _____ n* _____-lover regarding his defense of _____ Tom Robinson _____, a black man accused of _____ raping _____ a white woman. Atticus explains that he doesn't expect to _____ win _____ the trial but that he couldn't live with himself if he didn't try. He asks Scout to curb her _____ anger _____. She successfully walks away from _____ the next day. Christmas arrives and brings Uncle Jack, Atticus's brother. At Finch's _____ Landing _____ on Christmas day, Scout loses her _____ temper _____ with young _____ Francis _____ who says Atticus is _____ disgrac _____ing the family. _____ Jack _____ whips Scout for fighting and using bad _____ language _____. Back home that evening. Scout explains what _____ Francis _____ said to make her angry. Uncle Jack wants _____ Francis _____ punished but _____ Scout _____ begs him not to say anything because she knows Atticus doesn't want her _____ fighting _____ on his behalf. Atticus worries about Scout making it through difficult times ahead of them.

Chapter 10

Scout and Jem are bothered that _____ Atticus _____ is older than their friends' _____ dads _____ and cannot engage in typical activities with them. When _____ Tim _____ Johnson, a mad _____ dog _____, comes walking down their street, _____ Atticus _____ kills him with one shot. Jem is in awe of _____ Atticus _____'s skill; he understands that _____ Atticus _____ doesn't boast about his skills because that wouldn't be gentlemanly.

Chapter 11

Scout describes Mrs. _____ Dubose _____, a mean elderly woman who lives on her street. Whenever Scout and Jem pass by, Mrs. _____ Dubose _____ says terrible things about their _____ father _____. One day Scout and Jem are walking to _____ town _____, and Mrs. Dubose insults _____ Atticus _____ because he is defending _____ a black man _____. Jem says nothing but is visibly angered. In town he buys himself a miniature _____ train-set _____ and buys Scout a _____ baton _____. On the way home Mrs. Dubose is not outside; _____ Jem _____ grabs the baton and destroys all of her _____ Camellias _____. As punishment, _____ Atticus _____ orders Jem to _____ read _____ to Mrs. Dubose every afternoon. The reading periods gets _____ longer _____ each day until the punishment is over about five weeks later. Not long after that Mrs. Dubose _____ dies _____. _____ Atticus _____ explains that Mrs. Dubose was using the reading time as a way to wean herself away from her _____ morphine _____ addiction so that she could die on her own terms.