

Degree, Diploma, or Certificate of Credit in Criminal Justice Technology

Program Overview

Police officers protect lives and property. Law enforcement officers' duties depend on the size and type of their organizations. The daily activities of police and detectives vary with their occupational specialty — such as police officer, game warden, or detective — and whether they work for a local, state, or federal agency. Duties also differ substantially among various federal agencies, which enforce different aspects of the law. Regardless of job duties or location, police officers and detectives at all levels must write reports and maintain meticulous records that will be needed if they testify in court.
