

PERSONAL FINANCE & ECONOMICS

2022 ----- Ms. Tanner ----- 2023

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

In addition to the fundamentals of economic decision-making, microeconomics, macroeconomics, and international economics, students will learn personal finance skills they can apply to their own futures – including managing and balancing budgets; understanding and building credit; protecting against identity theft and consumer protections; and understanding tax forms, student loan applications, and pay stubs. Economics is the study of how individuals, businesses, and governments make decisions about the allocation of scarce resources. This course provides students with a foundation in the field of economics, with a specific focus on how students can apply that knowledge to their own personal finances.

INSTRUCTIONAL ACCOMMODATIONS:

Advanced PF & E: Increased academic rigor is integrated into instructional assignments and assessments for Advanced PF & E Courses. Advanced students will have additional reading and writing requirements along with increased homework executions. Students are expected to successfully complete independent assignments.

Honors PF & E: A high level of rigor is integrated into instructional assignments and assessments so students can prepare for AP or college level courses. Honors PF & E students are required to complete readings and additional assignments outside the classroom. Mandatory academic competitions are required for this course.

Accommodations: Students with IEP and 504 plans will receive designated accommodations in PF & E classrooms.

CHEATING & PLAGIARISM:

Copying answers directly out of the text or cutting and pasting from online sources is not acceptable. All answers should be in your own words. Please refer to the student handbook.
