

Optum Financial flexible spending account (FSA) with carryover

A smart way to care for the important things in your life.

Plan for health care expenses.

An Optum Financial FSA is the smart way to save and pay for IRS eligible health care expenses. It's smart because you can set aside pre-tax dollars in your FSA. Whenever you need to pay out-of-pocket for eligible health care costs, just use your Optum Financial payment card.

Lower your taxes.

When you contribute to an FSA, you're setting aside pre-tax dollars. You don't have to pay federal income taxes on the money you put into your account. That means you may actually lower the amount of federal income tax you pay.

Access your funds immediately.

The money you choose to put into your FSA is available to you on the first day of your plan year. You don't have to wait until your FSA balance grows to pay for eligible expenses.

The "use it or lose it" rule.

The "use it or it lose" rule means you will lose any money left in your account at the end of the plan year. However your health care FSA includes a provision that allows you to carry over a limited dollar amount from one plan year to the next. You will only forfeit dollars if your balance exceeds the allowable carryover after the run out period has ended.

It's your choice. You decide how much to contribute.

With an FSA, you choose how much to contribute. Be sure to plan ahead and create a list of anticipated health care expenses for the coming year.

Paying for eligible expenses.

With your Optum Financial payment card, you can pay for eligible health care expenses without submitting any paper claim forms. It's fast and convenient. Fill a prescription. Pay and be on your way.

You can also pay for eligible health care expenses with a personal credit card or check. Just submit a claim request online, or on the mobile app, along with the right documents, and receive your reimbursement directly into your bank account. Sign up for direct deposit when you sign in to your account at optumfinancial.com.

Save your receipts.

Be careful how you use your FSA. There are rules. You will want to keep receipts from your doctors, dentists, clinic, pharmacy and hospital for all eligible health care expenses. All receipts should include the date and description of the service, provider's name and amount paid. That way, you have proof if you need to verify that all of your FSA expenses meet IRS requirements for eligibility.

Changing your contributions.

In special situations — if you get married or divorced, or if you have a baby — you may be able to adjust the amount you contribute to your FSA. This is called a change in status. If you have a qualifying change in status, your benefits representative can help you adjust your contributions. For specific details, check your employer's plan documents.

If you leave the company during the plan year, you may submit FSA claims for expenses incurred while you were still covered under the plan.

Benefits with a carryover:

- Your carryover balance is in addition to your annual election.
- You can estimate your expenses for the coming year and then add some extra — up to your allowable carryover amount. If you don't spend it next year it rolls to the following year.
- Even if you don't make an election for next year your balance will still carry over.
- The carryover applies to your health care FSA but not your dependent care FSA.
- Check your benefit plan document for details including the amount you may carry over and for the number of years the carryover applies.

See how Jane receives tax benefits and uses the carryover option with her FSA:

Jane budgets:

Glasses	$400.00
Rx copays	$300.00
Dental services	$800.00
Annual election	$1,500.00

Jane's dental services end up costing $1,000 (vs. the $800 she budgeted) and her annual Rx is $300, so she spends the $1,300 and decides to wait and purchase her glasses next year when she can put additional dollars into her FSA. Jane has $200 to carry over to next year.

$550* Total tax savings	$360 Federal
	$75 State
	$115 FICA

She needs $700 to pay for glasses and Rx copays next year. With her carryover of $200, she should elect $500 for next year, however, with the carryover feature in her plan she decides to add a little more to her election knowing that she will not lose it at the end of the year. Jane elects $800 in next year's plan.

An Optum Financial FSA is a great way to pay for eligible health care expenses that your insurance plan doesn't cover. It's simple to enroll:

- 1 Decide how much you want to set aside for eligible health care expenses during the plan year.
- 2 Sign up during your annual benefits enrollment period. Your contributions will be withheld from each paycheck before taxes and credited to your FSA.
- 3 Use your Optum Financial payment card to pay for eligible health care expenses. If you prefer, you can use a personal check or credit card and submit a claim request. It's simple and fast. Either way, you'll enjoy the tax-advantaged savings.
