EXPLAIN THE RISE OF COMMUNISM IN CHINA

China's history

- 1911 ~ Chinese Nationalist Party was in control
 - Failed to provide for the needs of the people
- Communist party headed by Mao Zedong promised to improve their conditions
 - Revolted against Chinese Nationalist Party
 - Won power in 1949 and declared China a communist state The People's Republic of China
- Mao ~ leader of CCP and head of government
 - Virtually had complete control as a dictator

The Great Leap Forward

- 1958 ~ put in place to speed up China's economic development
- Collective farms were organized
 - Communes were told what to produce by govt
- Within one year, the program failed
 - Droughts and floods damaged food supply
 - Communes failed to produce enough crops ~ as a result massive starvation
 - 20 million people died during one of the largest famine in history

Cultural Revolution

- The failure of the Great Leap Forward made several people turn against Mao
- Chinese people began asking for reform/change
- Mao did not want any opposition to the Communist Government
- In 1960 he began the Cultural Revolution
 - Schools shut down and students recruited into Red Guards/ Red Army
 - Factories closed = weakened Chinese economy
 - Government denied healthcare and transportation
- Cultural Revolution created mass chaos among the Chinese people

The end of Mao Zedong

- Mao Zedong died in 1976
- Deng Xiaoping came to power
 - Made several reforms but maintained Communist values and government control
 - Chinese citizens were denied basic rights
 - Remained in power until his death in 1997

Tiananmen Square

- A protest that will forever be remembered
- Occurred in 1989
- Student protesters filled Tiananmen Square for Z weeks
 - Practicing their rights to free speech and peacefully speaking out against Communism
 - Protests spread throughout all of China
 - People asking for a democracy
- Government sent tanks into the square and opened fire which killed hundreds of thousands of people
- Countries world-wide condemned China for their actions
- After this event, Chinese government began to improve the human rights of their citizens

SS7H3

EXPLAIN THE REASONS FOR FOREIGN INVOLVEMENT IN KOREA AND VIETNAM IN TERMS OF CONTAINMENT OF COMMUNISM

Fear of communism

- Following WWII the Soviet Union was established as a communist country
 - US and Soviet Union both superpowers trying to prove which would be dominating world power
- The US sought out to spread democracy around the world and CONTAIN communism
 - Desired to protect the rights of citizens world-wide
- The US believed that the spread of communism would take over Korea and Vietnam
 - Both of these countries were divided into a communist country and a southern section which was set up as a democracy

US involvement ~ democracy vs. Communism

- The US intervened in both Korea and Vietnam in efforts to contain communism and establish democracies
- Korean War 1950-1953
- Vietnam War 1965-1975
- Even though Vietnam became a communist nation, South Korea prevailed and has a republican government similar to the US
- Democratic forms of government proved more successful when the Soviet Union fell in 1991
 - There are still communist countries today, however the US efforts of containment were successful
