Talking Points

The image shows a screenshot of the Talking Points website. At the top, there is a browser address bar with the URL "talkingpts.org". Below the address bar is the website's navigation menu, which includes the "talkingpoints" logo, and links for "TEACHERS", "SCHOOLS AND DISTRICTS", "FAMILIES", "ABOUT", "PRICING", "LOGIN", and a prominent "SIGN UP FOR FREE" button. Why Talking Points?

Talking Points is a free resource for teachers and parents.

It can be used on your computer or as an app on your smart phone.

Teachers create a login & password. Parents get texts on their phone or can get the Talking Points App.

Teachers add their student's name and parent's cell phone number and home language.

Teachers can communicate with their parents by typing a message in English and sending it to their parents.

When the parents receive the teacher's message, it will be translated in their home/native language.

The parent can respond to the teacher by typing a message in their home/native language and sending it back to their teacher.

The teacher will receive the parent's return response in English.

This app is available only on the App Store for iPhone and iPad.

ESOL Testing

We give 2 tests throughout the year.

- ✓ W-APT: This is a placement test for students entering our school that speak more than one language. It tests skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing English. These test scores help us decide whether the student needs ESL services.
- ✓ ACCESS: This test measures English language growth in listening, speaking, reading, and writing. It is given to all ESL students in February. We receive and send home score reports in May. We use the ACCESS to help decide ESL services.

What is the purpose and use of the ACCESS test?

The ACCESS helps students and families understand students' current level of English language proficiency.

It serves as one of multiple measures used to determine whether students are prepared to exit English language support programs.

It generates information that assists in determining whether ELLs have attained the language proficiency needed to participate meaningfully in content area classrooms without program support.

It provides teachers with information they can use to enhance instruction and learning in programs for their English language learners.

It provides districts with information to help them evaluate the effectiveness of their ESL / bilingual programs
