- What is a good score?

About the PSAT/NMSQT[®] - SAT[®]

- The PSAT/NMSQT and SAT are highly relevant to your future success because they focus on the skills and knowledge at the heart of your education. They measure:
 - What you learn in high school
 - What you need to succeed in college
- The PSAT/NMSQT and SAT measures reading, writing and language, and math skills developed over many years.
- The exams do not ask for facts from literature, history, or science, or for recall of math formulas, because it measures your reasoning and critical thinking skills.
- You don't have to discover secret tricks or cram the night before.
- There is no penalty for guessing.

Admissions

Incoming Freshmen

Entering freshmen who demonstrate the potential for outstanding academic achievement are eligible to apply to the Honors College. For Fall 2017, minimum requirements to be considered for admission are 1] a high school grade point average of 3.85 (minimum), 2] a targeted minimum ACT score of 29 or an equivalent SAT score of 1290 (old test) or 1350 (new test), and 3] the submission of a written essay.

Honors College application information is mailed in October, November, and December to qualified students who have been accepted for admission to Auburn University. The deadline for completion of the Honors College application is January 15. Selection of incoming freshmen is based on GPA, ACT/SAT scores, evidence of candidates' activities and leadership, and the content included in the required Honors essay. Students, who meet the minimum requirements but have not received an invitation to apply to the Honors College by the first week of January, should contact the Honors College office.

Announcing Kennesaw State's Competitive Admissions Model

Kennesaw State University is on the move with a compelling story of growth and momentum. As an academic institution of choice offering more than 150 undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral programs, we are excelling at scholarship and research worldwide.

In that spirit, we are implementing a competitive admissions model for freshmen and transfer freshmen, beginning with applications for Fall 2018. Our new approach enables the University to manage enrollment growth and facilitate timely degree progression for all students by:

- Giving applicants the choice of submitting their applications for Early Action or Regular Decision.
- Utilizing a combination of the total SAT score or ACT composite score and the high school GPA to determine admission. Meeting the minimum requirements may not guarantee admission to Kennesaw State.
- Providing an opportunity for students to secure their place in the freshman class by collecting an enrollment deposit at time of acceptance.

The SAT[®] and the Admission Process

A student's SAT scores is just one factor among many that colleges consider when making an admission decision.

Primary Factors

- Quality and Challenging Academic Coursework
- Academic Performance/Grades
- Test Scores (SAT, SAT Subject Tests[™], AP[®], etc.)

Additional Factors

- Extracurricular Activities
- Essay(s)
- Letters of Recommendation
- Demonstrated Interest

General Student Information

First (given) name: *

Middle initial:

Last name (surname): *

Creating Account Basics

- Legal Name - Provide your full, official first and last name, as you'd see them on a student ID or other official identification. The information entered will become part of the student's official record and no duplicate account can be created. Students won't be able to change their name online once they start any testing activities.
Ex. If the name on the SAT admission ticket does not match the ID, they may not be allowed to take the test. Or, if a parent creates a student account and the student comes back later, the student would be blocked and told to access the original account.
- Email Address - Use a professional email address that you plan on having for a while. Email is used for critical communications such as your SAT admission ticket, score alerts and password reminders.
TIP – Create an email account to use for college planning purposes and share access with your parents
- Match Other Identifiers - Your birthday, security question and answer, as well as other information, will be used to verify that you are you if you forget your password or need to call customer service for help.
- Graduation Date - Your high school graduation date will be used to customize services for you.

What Can You Learn from Your Answers?

See the actual questions, answer choices, and the answer selected.

Look at the online score report and consider the following:

- Identify the questions answered incorrectly.
- Find the correct answer and read the answer explanation.
- Explain why the error was made.
- Ask questions about answer explanations that are not clear.

The screenshot displays a CollegeBoard online score report for a Reading section, specifically Question 20. The interface includes a top navigation bar with 'My Scores' and 'My Reports' tabs. The question is titled 'Reading: Question 20' and is part of a set of questions 20-24 based on two passages. The question asks for a difference between the experiments described in the two passages. The answer choices are: A. presented the birds with a problem to solve, B. intentionally made the birds aware of his presence, C. consciously manipulated the birds' surroundings, and D. tested the birds' tool-using abilities. The user selected answer A, but the correct answer is B. The explanation states that the author of Passage 2 made his intent to observe the birds' behavior clear by describing the birds' reactions to his presence, while the author of Passage 1 did not. The report also shows the user's score for this question and the overall score for the section.

- Was I more likely to skip questions associated with any subscore or cross-test score?
- What inferences can I make about areas for improvement based on the types of questions I missed and skipped?

What Is My AP Potential?

AP Potential uses scores from the PSAT/NMSQT® to provide predictions for 21 AP® Exams.

- College Board research shows that students who score a 3 or higher on an AP Exam typically experience greater academic success in college and are more likely to earn a college degree on time than non-AP students.

AP Potential and Coursework

What is AP?

Advanced Placement is a College Board program that enables students to pursue college-level studies - with the opportunity to earn college credit, advanced placement or both - while still in high school. The program offers courses in more than 30 subjects. For a full list of courses, click here. If you've taken a College Board assessment in 9th grade or higher, see below for a list of AP courses that you are likely to succeed in. If you've taken an assessment in 9th grade or higher but don't see any AP courses listed below, click here to link the scores to this account or contact Customer Service at (866) 716-7346 for assistance and questions.

High School Core Coursework

Colleges have different high school course requirements, but all expect you to take classes that challenge your skills. Try to take a core course load of 4 years of English and at least 3 years of Math, Science, and Social Studies. As you work towards your high school diploma, you should consider taking courses that align with your future career interest and college major, which may require more than the standard core course load. You may also want to think about taking Advanced Placement courses in your later years of high school.

Potential
Your scores show that you have the potential for success in this course. Speak with your teachers or school counselor to see if you have the appropriate prerequisite courses and find out how you can enroll.

Some Potential
Your scores show that you have some potential for success in this AP course. Having interest in the course subject as well as dedication to working hard will increase your chances for success. Speak with your teachers or school counselor to see if you have the appropriate prerequisite courses and find out how you can enroll.

Potential Not Yet Indicated
Your scores show that you may need more preparation and support to be successful in this course. Share your goals and interests with your teachers and school counselor, and learn which high school courses can prepare you for AP courses in the future. If you're already taking an AP course, you can still succeed through hard work and motivation. Talk to your teachers regularly so they can support you.

When to Register?

2 out of 3 students improved their score by taking the SAT® twice

When should students take the SAT?

- Spring of junior year
- Again in the fall of senior year

Taking the test a second time can:

- Show how much students have practiced and learned since the last test
- Prove an increase in students' academic skills
- Strengthen students' college applications

How to Register for the SAT

- SAT Registration link from Popular Tools menu
- sat.org/register
- Registration Fees:
$46 SAT (no Essay)
$60 with essay
