Steps of Rehearsal

1. Read and walk through the scene using the physical actions you chose in Lesson 10.
2. Sit as a group to discuss the scene.
3. As a group, choose two to four moments (a word or two) where something changes, someone is surprised, or a character reveals something important. These are moments you will emphasize. Mark them lightly in pencil on Activity Page 10.3.
4. As a group, discuss what two or three adjectives you would use to describe the characters in this scene. Think back to the “O” exercise if you get stuck. Record them in the margin in pencil.
5. Stand, read, and walk through the scene again.
6. Discuss ideas for changes or additions. Are there other important moments you forgot? Other movements to add? Does anyone want to change his or her adjectives? Make notes about these changes in your script.
7. Walk through it again with the changes and additions. You can always go back to an earlier version if you prefer.
8. If you have time, repeat this step until you run out of time.
9. Finally, record the movement of your scene and the adjectives you used on the opposite page in your Reader.

Puck's Speech

If we shadows have offended,
Think but this, and all is mended,
That you have but slumber'd here
While these visions did appear.
And this weak and idle theme,
No more yielding but a dream.
Give me your hands, if we be friends,
And Robin shall restore amends.

Puck's Speech

If we shadows have offended,
Think but this, and all is mended,
That you have but slumber'd here
While these visions did appear.
And this weak and idle theme,
No more yielding but a dream.
Gentles, do not reprehend:
If you pardon, we will mend.
And, as I am an honest Puck,
If we have unearnèd luck
Now to 'scape the serpent's tongue,
We will make amends ere long;
Else the Puck a liar call.
So, good night unto you all.
Give me your hands, if we be friends,
And Robin shall restore amends.
