

Hello,

My name is Julie Lamontagne. I have been teaching for 37 Years. I have been teaching at New Boston Central School since 2007. I began my career at New Boston Central School as a Paraprofessional. I then taught part time Kindergarten for two years and then transitioned to first grade. This is my third-year teaching first grade. I also have experience teaching Readiness as well as second grade.

I love teaching at New Boston Central because we care about every aspect of your child. Our focus is on your whole child and making sure they are happy and successful while in our care. This is what makes New Boston Central School so special. I am honored to be a part of this school family.

I live in Epsom with my cat Dash. I have three grown children and one granddaughter.

I spend my free time going on adventures with my granddaughter. I enjoy walking reading and the beach. The beach is my happy place!

I am looking forward to a wonderful year of fun and learning with your child.
