

12 Days of the Working Teenager Skit

Boy enters the stage – all depressed.

Student 1 – What's wrong?

Boy – I lost another job. Second one this month.

Student 1 – What happened?

Boy – My boss thinks he knows everything. He kept nagging me and correcting me. Finally, he fired me. Guess I won't be buying any Christmas gifts this year.

Student 1 – Maybe you should share your situation with all of us. That way, we will know what NOT to do when we get jobs.

12 students come on stage. Each takes a line. Sing tune to 12 Days of Christmas.....

On the first day of working, my employer said to me....

1st – get rid of your crappy attitude

2nd – No tattoos

3rd – No more excuses

4th – cussing's not appropriate

5th – No phones at work

6th – no shredded jeans

7th – no you can't leave early

8th – you haven't earned vacation

9th – customers are not stupid

10th – yes, you must work weekends

11th – you think that you're entitled

12th – You're Fired!

Same song – different beginning.

12 students on stage. All seem disgruntled and depressed. They make remarks like...

My boss thinks he knows everything.

He wouldn't even let me call in sick on my 3rd day.

He said I had to work a WHOLE year before I could take vacation.

He wouldn't even let me use my phone at work!

He's crazy. I know a lot more than he does, for sure.

Then everyone takes a day and sings