- The main character, Ali Baba Bernstein, lives in New York City in an area called Manhattan. He doesn't like his name because there are too many Davids in his class with the same name. This makes him feel boring and ordinary. He decides to change his name to Ali Baba because he read about the book called, The Arabian Nights. The main character in that book, Ali Baba, has an exciting life. David thinks if he takes this name his life will be extraordinary and filled with exciting adventures too.
