ACADEMIC PROGRAMS & SERVICES

American College Testing

Linn-Mar students score well above state and national averages on standardized tests such as the ACT, SAT, or ITED. The 2011-2012 composite average ACT score for all L-MHS students was 24.4. The average composite score for all Iowa students during the same time period was 22.1 and the national average was 21.1. 78% of Linn-Mar High School students took the ACT and a score of 20 or higher on the 36 point scale indicates probable success in college.

National Merit Achievement Program

Linn-Mar has had a large number of National Merit Scholars, Academic All-State recipients, and State of Iowa Scholars in its sixty-three year history. During the 2011-2012 school year, Linn-Mar High School had three National Merit Scholar Semifinalists, as well as one National Merit Scholar Commended Student named.

Linn-Mar's Advance Placement (AP) information for the Class of 2012*:

Of the more than 18,000 schools/districts worldwide that participate in the AP Program, Linn-Mar was one of only 367 U.S. public school districts named as an AP Honor Roll School in 2012. (One of only six districts in Iowa that achieved this status.)

75% of Linn-Mar's Class of 2012 seniors took an AP course while in high school.

Linn-Mar Community Schools offered the following AP coursework: American Government, Art History, Biology, Calculus AB, Calculus BC, Chemistry, English, Physics, Psychology, Statistics, US History, World History and AP TAG.

27 different AP subject tests were taken by Linn-Mar students in 2012.

In the United States, 32.4% of public high school students took an AP exam at some point in high school. At Linn-Mar, 80% took an AP exam. (299 seniors took 423 AP Exams.)

Nationally, 19.5% of 2012 graduates scored over a 3 on AP exams. At Linn-Mar, 83.2% of scores were higher than a 3.

*According to the College Board's 9th Annual AP Report to the Nation.
