Curriculum

Course Description:

This course is designed for the beginning students with no prior Chinese knowledge at all. Instruction is organized in thematic units including activities and assessment of each unit based on the three modes of communication: interpretive, interpersonal and presentational. Throughout time, students will develop their Chinese language fluency in listening, speaking, reading and writing. In one year, students will learn to use simple Chinese to exchange general information and to express their ideas in learned sentence patterns. Students will also be exposed to Chinese cultural perspectives, which they compare, and contrast with their background culture. Student learning will be evaluated by a variety of formative and summative assessments, including homework, pair/group work, class assignment, character writing quiz, the unit test and project presentation.

| Standard 7.1 World Languages All students will be able to use a world language in addition to English and engage in meaningful conversation, to understand and interpret spoken and written language, and to present information, concepts, and ideas, while also gaining an understanding of the perspectives of other cultures. Through language study, they will make connections with other content areas, compare the language and culture studied with their own, and participate in home and global communities. |   |

Standard 7.1 World Languages

All Students will be able to use a world language in addition to English and engage in meaningful conversation, to understand and interpret spoken and written language, and to present information, concepts, and ideas, while also gaining an understanding of the perspectives of other cultures. Through language study, they will make connections with other content areas, compare the language and culture studied with their own, and participate in home and global communities.

Unit 2 My Family

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

Family is the core unit of Chinese society. Chinese people inherit traditional perspectives such as family ties, respect for elders, and family values, which outweigh personal interest, even more so after chaos of the Cultural Revolution in the mid 20th century. Students in this unit will learn about Chinese family under the premise that leads to their appreciation of their cultural background. Students will also learn about the most important holiday, Chinese New Year, to Chinese family.

Technology Integration

- Google Pinyin Input method: Students type pinyin to find characters for Family Introduction origami project.
- Online Learning: Quizlet flash cards to review learned words & phrases.
- Multimedia resource: Watch a Chinese New Year video on YouTube; CD for listening comprehension; CJ 7 DVD movie for discussing a family relationship between a father & a son..
- Google Voice: Students leave messages for assigned reading & translation homework.

Global Perspectives:

- Chinese people value family ties & respect for elders. Family interest is above personal one.

Culturally Responsive Teaching

- Survey students about their Chinese learning of Unit 1, activities & strategies that work best for them.

- Teacher-student interaction: Teacher interviews students' family members' information including name, age...
- Character writing quiz.
- Student pair conversation: Pair interviews each other about family members & teacher assesses students' speaking.
- Individual student project: Chinese New Year project : After watching a video about Chinese New Year, students make a Power Point project according to the guided sheet.
- Unit test: written and speaking.

Standard 7.1 World Languages

All Students will be able to use a world language in addition to English and engage in meaningful conversation, to understand and interpret spoken and written language, and to present information, concepts, and ideas, while also gaining an understanding of the perspectives of other cultures. Through language study, they will make connections with other content areas, compare the language and culture studied with their own, and participate in home and global communities.

Unit 3 Language and Country

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

In this global village, it's common that people in the 21-century travel among countries speaking multiple languages for various purposes. Languages and countries are more related to geographical classification than to identification. In this unit, students will learn to express their experience abroad and to share their foreign language learning experience using the Chinese language.

- Google Voice: Students leave a message for reading & translation homework.
- Google Apps: Students use Google Power Point to make “My Family” project.

Global Perspectives:

- Family expectation has an influence on Chinese people’s choice of career. Therefore, there are some popular jobs/workplaces in Chinese society.

Culturally Responsive Teaching

- Teacher surveys students about their future career choice & parents’ expectation for them, and how that relates to Chinese cultural norms.

Standard 7.1 World Languages

All Students will be able to use a world language in addition to English and engage in meaningful conversation, to understand and interpret spoken and written language, and to present information, concepts, and ideas, while also gaining an understanding of the perspectives of other cultures. Through language study, they will make connections with other content areas, compare the language and culture studied with their own, and participate in home and global communities.

Unit 5 Transportation & Time

Big Ideas: Course Objectives / Content Statement(s)

In China, there are various types of transportation due to geographic and historic restrictions. In modern cities of China, the difference among urban, suburban and rural

| areas is increasingly enlarged by economic development. In this unit, students will learn to express going to school/work by transportation means at certain times in Chinese sentence structure.  |   |
