To build reading skills, your 3rd grader:

- Reads multi-syllable and grade-appropriate, irregularly spelled words (ask your child's teacher for a list of these words).
- Reads grade-level text with appropriate pace, accuracy, expression, and understanding.
- Self-corrects mistakes and re-reads when necessary.
- Talks about and answers questions about a text using specific examples from the text and connects different parts of a text.
- Reads a variety of texts including, fiction, non-fiction, fables, and poetry, and understands and talks about their main ideas and lessons.
- Begins to understand the difference between literal and non-literal text such as metaphors and analogies.
- Uses the text and context to determine the meaning of words.
- Is able to express their own point of view about characters or a text.
- Makes comparisons between books written by the same author and books in series that are about the same characters.

To build writing skills, your 3rd grader:

- Writes a variety types of texts including:
 - Opinion Pieces: Students introduce their opinions, note the reasons for those opinions, and provide a conclusion.

- Narrative Pieces: Students write about an event, using descriptive details, feelings, and proper order — and ultimately provide a conclusion.
 - Informative/Explanatory Pieces: Students introduce a topic and use facts, definitions, and, if helpful, illustrations to further explain the topic, eventually leading to a conclusion.
- Uses terms such as: because, since, for example, also, another, and but to elaborate on and make connections in their writing.
- Plans, revises, and edits their writing, going through the same process that most writers do.
- Uses digital tools (under the guidance of the teacher) to publish their writing and interact and communicate with others.
- Begins to take notes and do research for short research projects.
- Spends various amounts of time writing a piece, ranging from a short period of time (such as 30 minutes) to working on one piece over the course of a few weeks.
