

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

Today's Artist: Alessandro Gallo

Alessandro is an Italian artist who comments on the human tendency to relate to animals by making them more human.

He began with digital collages before moving to paintings and eventually intricate painted clay figures.

