

Introduction

Application for Withdrawal of Accumulated Total Deductions

Form Last Revised: June, 2011

The Application for Withdrawal of Total Accumulated Deductions allows an eligible member to receive a refund of the total accumulated deductions in his or her annuity savings (retirement) account. An eligible member is one who:

- has terminated his or her employment with a governmental unit;
- is not receiving workers' compensation;
- is not seeking to be restored to his or her position; and
- is not accepting a position in the service of the Commonwealth or one of its political subdivisions.

Members are strongly advised to review the following:

- If you have over ten years of creditable service, you may currently be or might become eligible for a retirement allowance. By taking a withdrawal of your accumulated total deductions, you will lose any right to this retirement allowance. Before proceeding with a withdrawal, you should ask your retirement board for a personalized estimate of any benefits that you will forego by withdrawing.
- Taking a refund of your total accumulated deductions terminates your rights in the retirement system and may subject you to tax consequences. For distributions made after January 1, 2002, please be aware that your options of an eligible retirement plan for transferring your deductions have been expanded dramatically. Please carefully review the "Special Tax Notice" that accompanies this application. If you have unresolved concerns, you may wish to consult with an attorney or a tax professional.
- The amount of interest that members receive will vary, depending upon the years of creditable service and the nature of the separation from employment.
- Your employer must certify the termination of your employment, that you owe no obligation to the employer under an employee benefit plan, and sign this application.
- Your retirement board will determine if you are eligible for a refund of your total accumulated deductions.
