New Arts Standards are an opportunity to refine your work.

RESOURCES: NEW NATIONAL ARTS STANDARDS

New national arts standards were premiered in 2014 by the National Coalition for Core Arts Standards, comprised of a group of diverse leaders in arts education in dance, media arts, music, theatre and visual arts.

Unique to these new arts standards is a common over-arching set of anchor standards which unites all art forms together for the first time.

The website for the standards is an interactive, dynamic location where users can sift and sort through the information and create a work area customized for personal and professional use.

Whether it is Plan A or Plan B or Plan C. Plan ahead.

RESOURCES: NPS K-12 ARTS SCHOOL PLANNERS

The Newark Public Schools Arts Office takes the position that all decisions about student, teacher and school needs should be based on shared and agreed-upon data. The collection of this information provides guidance to all elementary, middle and high schools in their efforts to establish comprehensive, sequential, standards-based arts learning opportunities for all students.

Once an arts education team is created at the school, participants score themselves on a 25-point rubric or criteria of quality arts programs. The gaps between where you are and where you want to be are the focus of future plans.

RESOURCES: ARTS RESOURCE CENTER AT AMERICAN HISTORY HS

Multiple rooms have been organized at American History High School to serve arts teachers needs. This newly designated “Arts Resource Center” primarily houses musical instruments, classroom music supplies, an expansive inventory of visual arts supplies. Also included in this resource site are textbooks, literature, methods books, videos, CDs and a variety of peripheral items to assist in teaching in the arts.

Dance and Theatre teachers will find various visual resources to enhance classroom instruction, as well as new video documentation equipment for recording student performance and progress.

THE ARTS AT NPS

Newark Public Schools has the challenge today of creating schools where learners succeed as productive citizens of society in an ever-changing, ever-demanding work-place. It is the goal of The NPS Arts Office to assist in developing students' mental capacities and to realize their potential in today's and tomorrow's world. Consequently, they need to be exposed to many kinds of knowledge, to many ways of understanding the world and to many ways of expressing their thoughts – creatively, concretely, and analytically. Highly effective classroom and arts teachers, along with their administrators and many fine community arts partners, work together to prepare our young people to meet these instructional expectations in dance, media arts, music, theatre and visual arts for all students.
