

Basic US History
Assisted Study Hall Guidelines
2014 - 2015

On the Tuesday or Wednesday of every other week (whichever day we happen to have class that week) we will have an “assisted study hall.” During this time you may:

- work on any classwork or homework from the previous two weeks that you may not have finished yet.*
- work on any classwork or homework from the previous two weeks that you would like to redo in order to relearn the information and/or skills covered in the assignment [and earn a higher grade on the redone work].
- ask me for help or further explanation on any classwork or homework from the previous two weeks.
- retake any missed or failed quiz or exam.
- use the time to complete the homework assigned for the next class.
- complete additional learning opportunities to enhance the knowledge you have already obtained about our unit of study.
- use the time to complete work for another class.
- read.
- other, as determined by Mrs. Wagner.

This is your opportunity to get caught up, to ask me questions, to truly understand what we’re studying – take advantage of this!

*Any incomplete work from the previous two weeks that is not turned in by the end of this period will remain a zero in the gradebook.