To Whom It May Concern:

The Child Advocacy Center of UPMC Children's Hospital is exploring opportunities to engage with members of the community in effort to assist in providing further education on current issues involving safety and advocacy for children. Relevant topics that we are able to present on include internet safety, bullying & cyberbullying, and sexting/sextortion. We are also able to tailor presentations designed to meet additional needs. Our target audiences include, but are not limited to, teachers and other school personnel, students, parents, and other community agencies dedicated to keeping children safe. Presentations are designed to meet the developmental and social needs of the audience and are age appropriate for all grade levels. Most of our presentations are able to take place during the school day; However, we are flexible in accommodating presentations for staff after school hours.

Should you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to Lead Forensic Interviewer Sara Gluzman (412-692-8669) or Senior Forensic Interviewers Rick DiBello (412-692-8766) or Cristina Indick (412-692-5980) for further information or inquiries.
