REMEMBER....

Your background is as important as the person!

Show the whole body for at least one photo. And the second photo can be another whole body or waist up.

Have some space above the head and below the feet. Don't cut off any of the body. But have it close enough that we can clearly see the face.

NO SMILING! Person should be looking right at the camera.

Again, if the background isn't good enough on its own, don't bother putting someone in front of it.
