LOCATION AND DESCRIPTION

The King George School District, is a dynamic educational community with a population of approximately 26,337. The district is located within a rural area approximately 65 miles from Washington DC. The proximity to Washington means that many parents are employed in managerial/governmental jobs. The largest employer in King George County is the Naval Surface Warfare Center located in Dahlgren. The district is comprised of five public schools that serve a rich mix of students numbering 4346. Our district includes the King George Elementary School, Potomac Elementary, Sealston Elementary, King George Middle School and King George High School.

KING GEORGE HIGH SCHOOL

King George High School opened in 1968 and has a history of high academic achievement. King George offers a wide variety of courses and staff maintain a focus on academic achievement while creating a learning environment in which all students can excel academically and socially. Students are encouraged to choose rigorous courses that will provide them with an intellectual challenge and better prepare them for future educational and career pursuits. In 2008, King George High School moved to a new building located at the present site.

THE CURRICULUM

King George High School operates on a 4 X 4 block schedule and has a comprehensive program of study for all students. Students benefit from an active Naval Science ROTC program and the school serves as a satellite location for Rappahannock Community College. Students also have the opportunity to participate in the Chesapeake Bay Governor's School for Marine and Environmental Science which provides students the opportunity to explore connections among the environment, math, science and technology curriculums. The Commonwealth Governor's School is a challenging, interdisciplinary college preparatory program. Governor's School classes are year-long and student's final grades appear in the second semester.
