

The Little Gray Pony

Completion Ticket

Remember, the miner gave the man coal when no one else could. We heard in the last read aloud that the blacksmith was one of the most important tradespeople in town, but if he needs coal to do his job, do you think that the miner would be the most important? Each job is unique and important depending on the need or the situation. Which trade would you have liked to do and why?

Please record your child's response here.