INTRODUCTION

The Newark Community Resource Directory is a listing of agencies in the Newark area that offer services to youth and their families. The agencies are listed in alphabetical order, but you will have to read through the listings of agencies to determine whether or not the services you need are available.

All of the agencies listed have addresses, telephone numbers, and some have a contact person. Just reading through the directory can provide you with some knowledge of services and activities for young people in Newark. By no means is this directory meant to be a complete listing of services available to youth, but rather a document upon which to build.

The directory can be used to make referrals, find summer programs, locate alternative programs, and to locate special services.

Please call the Office of Student Support Services if you wish to add resources, or complete the form included in the directory or fax the form to our office at (973) 733-7670.

Recommended resources will be included in the next update.

Day and evening classes are conducted free of charge at various sites throughout the city and within the surrounding area. The following is a brief description of programs offered.

Adult Basic Education (ABE) is designed for persons lacking the most basic educational skills. Program instruction focuses on basic communication, computation, and work readiness, civic and everyday living skills.

English as a Second Language (ESL) is designed for persons with limited English language ability. Instruction is planned to prepare them in the acquisition of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills necessary to function effectively in an English-speaking environment and to enter other adult education programs.

General Educational Development (GED) (GED-S) is designed for persons preparing to take the Tests of General Educational Development in order to qualify for a State-issued high school diploma. Instruction focuses on subject areas covered by the GED tests, namely, writing skills, social studies, science, interpreting literature and the arts, and mathematics. Instruction is offered in English and in Spanish (GED-S). The program offered in Spanish includes preparation for an English-as-a-second-language test.

David S. Gordon, Executive Director
Telephone: (732) 476-7242
E-mail: ltlf.org@gmail.com
Web-site: www.lovingthroughlearning.org
Hours of Operation:

The Living Through Learning Foundation is a non-profit organization whose mission is to help students with chronic health conditions understand, set and achieve their life goals. We feel passionately that a child must stay connected to their friends, teachers, and school work to continue to heal while learning.

To achieve this goal we provide schools and families with the means and training to connect a child with their classroom and other discovery based environments so they can continue to learn and have meaningful educational opportunities with their friends, even when they are too ill to attend school in person.

Classroom Connections:

LTLF connects children with chronic health conditions to their classrooms using secure webcams and desktop computers. Learners “attend” class using a secure video conferencing system which allows them to visit with their friends even when they physically are in the hospital or at home.

Virtual Fieldtrips

LTLF connects children with chronic health conditions to museums, science and cultural institutions via virtual field trips. Students work directly with museum staff on experiments, guided tours, and other interactive activities. Virtual field trips keep young minds learning.

Support

LTLF staff provides additional services in the form of innovative activities, in services and additional technology support for concerned professionals. Support will allow learners with chronic health conditions to be up to date with content being learned at school.

Big Brothers Big Sisters is a structured best practice, one-on-one mentoring program that pairs young people aged 5-15 with quality, positive, adult role models to serve as mentors at no cost to the family or the volunteer. BBBS screens and matches volunteer mentors with youth based on interests and preference and then supports that match for its duration with supervision calls, invitations to activities, training and on-going advice. Matches to activities that they both enjoy, be it shooting hoops, going to a museum, or just chatting over lunch. Every child needs a mentor and BBBS is committed to having a measurable impact on the youth we serve.

The Challenge Program is a partial hospitalization program for children ages 5-17 with histories of psychiatric hospitalization or residential treatment.

Depending upon the severity of the presenting difficulties youngsters may attend either day program:

The full day program (8:30 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.) includes both a clinical and education component. Clinical component provides four hours of psychiatric and therapeutic services. The education component meets all state requirements for out of school instruction and is typically two days. At present, the full day program is offered exclusively to children in the kindergarten grade range of educational placement.

The half day program is in operation five (5) afternoons per week (2:00pm-5:30pm) and off hours of psychiatric and therapeutic services. In the half day program children are assigned as of four age groupings (5-7, 8-9, 10-12, adolescent).

The clinical services for both the full and half day components include individual and family with a primary clinician (social worker or psychologist), and group therapy by age, group. milieu activities are led by mental health specialists. Within the context of a behavior modification program, children have opportunities to develop social and adaptive skills, while stabilizing symptoms. All children are examined psychiatrically prior to admission to the program, followed by a psychiatrist regularly throughout their course in the program.

SPAN provides information, training, technical assistance, advocacy, leadership development and parent to parent support for families of children birth to 21. Parents can contact SPAN's warm line, 1-800-654-7726, and get information and assistance on education, healthcare, mental health services, child care, juvenile justice, child welfare, and other issues that impact their children. In some cases, SPAN can attend meetings with parents to provide support, but this is limited based on the individual family/child needs and our staff availability. SPAN has a wide variety of educational materials available for parents in English and Spanish. SPAN provides county-based and regional workshops during the weekday, in the evening, and on Saturdays or Sundays, as well as archived workshops on our website, www.spannj.org, on a wide variety of topics. Ongoing workshops are available to parents without charge. SPAN charges districts, government agencies, and non-profit organizations a fee for workshops. SPAN is an approved provider of teacher education by the NJ Department of Education. Our sliding fee scale is attached. For parents of children with special needs, SPAN's Parent to Parent program can connect them to another parent for emotional support and information on resources. To access SPAN's services, call (973) 642-8100 or 1-800-645-SPAN.
