

AP Government Essay Question Chapter 2

Limited government is one of the key principles found in the Constitution. It allows for checks by the people and also allows for checks by the government itself.

- a. Identify and explain two examples of how government is limited by the people themselves.
- b. Identify and explain two examples of how the Constitution itself limited the government.
- c. Explain how the Federalists and Anti-Federalists both incorporated the idea of limited government in their philosophical goals.

AP Government Essay Question Chapter 2

Limited government is one of the key principles found in the Constitution. It allows for checks by the people and also allows for checks by the government itself.

- a. Identify and explain two examples of how government is limited by the people themselves.
- b. Identify and explain two examples of how the Constitution itself limited the government.
- c. Explain how the Federalists and Anti-Federalists both incorporated the idea of limited government in their philosophical goals.

AP Government Essay Question Chapter 2

Limited government is one of the key principles found in the Constitution. It allows for checks by the people and also allows for checks by the government itself.

- a. Identify and explain two examples of how government is limited by the people themselves.
- b. Identify and explain two examples of how the Constitution itself limited the government.
- c. Explain how the Federalists and Anti-Federalists both incorporated the idea of limited government in their philosophical goals.