Rules of Play

- Students find a partner. One will be blindfolded, the other is a guide.
- Blindfolded partners must cross the monkey bars being careful not to touch any bars that have a pinnie attached to it. Their guiding partner must help them with this task.
- If a player makes it to the end of the monkey bars, of if they accidentally touch a marked bar, both partners must go back to the start, switch roles, and restart.

Variations and Progressions

- Add a time constraint to increase the difficulty of the task.
- Limit the ways in which partners may communicate with each other (e.g. only sounds, claps, etc)

Game Info

Equipment

Blindfolds, monkey bars, pinnies

Safety

Be sure to set up safety mats appropriately in case any student falls off of the monkey bars.

Discussion

How did it feel being the blindfolded partner?

How did it feel being the guiding partner?

How important is trust in an activity like this?
