

A Photo That Represents You

I want you to look around your house and find something that represents who you are. Find something that is super special to you, or an object someone gave to you that has significance in your life.

Now that you have selected the object, I want you to have a little photoshoot with it.

At this point, I know I haven't taught you anything about photography. I want you to put on your "photography hat" and pretend you have been hired by a company to photograph that thing. You are going to fake being a hotshot photographer.

All you have to do is take a collection of photos and upload your best shot. I want you to edit it in your favorite editing app on your phone. You don't have to use a fancy app, but at this point, please use the camera app on your phone.

Upload it to a google classroom and I want you to write about your object and why you chose it and what it means to you.
